– Many today Christians have given up believing in ant miracles for today. For them, the age of miracles belongs to the early Church, when awe-inspiring events — like Moses parting the red sea, the virgin birth, and Jesus rising from the dead — confirmed the authenticity and is the divine nature of God and Jesus. But just because we don't see miracle phenomena of biblical proportions occurring very much today does not mean that God has left the business of miracles. From second chances at life to scientifically unexplained mysteries, these real - life stories are powerful reminders that God is at work today in modern times, and that we must never give up hope and faith.

A "mysterious voice" led rescuers to find child who survived for 14 - hours in submerged car.

- In March 2015, Lynn Jennifer Groesbeck, 25, lost control of her car and landed in the icy Spanish Fork River out in Utah.

Fourteen hours later, first responders found her 18-month-old daughter, Lily, in her car seat hanging upside down just above frigid river water.

Prior to finding Lily, both police officers and firefighters report that they heard an adult voice yell out "Help me!" from inside the car.

They discovered that the voice could not have come from the young mother, who likely died from the impact.

The rescuers still can't explain the voice or how the girl survived hanging upside-down for 14 hours in freezing temperatures without being dressed for the cold.

- A woman who came back to life after having no pulse for 45 minutes.

Ruby Graupera - Cassimiro, 40, fell unconscious from a rare amniotic fluid embolism during a cesarean section in September 2014 at the Boca Raton Regional Hospital in Florida.

Doctors tried to revive Graupera - Cassimiro for three hours. After 45 - minutes without a pulse, doctors decided to invite her family into the operating room to say their last goodbyes.

Then what doctors are calling a “miracle” occurred — her heart began beating on its own.

Graupera - Cassimiro has revealed that during the experience, she felt herself floating along a tunnel and seeing spiritual beings, including her father, surrounded in light.

What's even more incredible is that Graupera - Cassimiro suffered no brain damage and made a full recovery. Her baby girl is also healthy and happy yet today.

Gardell Martin, 22 – months - old, was playing with his siblings outside his parents’ home in Mifflinburg, PN, in March 2015 when he fell into a gushing creek with 34 - degree water.

Gardell was found a quarter of a mile away by a neighbor, unconscious and without a pulse. Emergency personnel were called to the scene and immediately began performing CPR, which continued uninterrupted for 101 minutes as they transported him via an ambulance and a helicopter to a hospital.

His body's temperature upon arrival was 77 - degrees, well way below the normal temperature of 98.6 - degrees. After doctors gradually warmed the boy over 24 hours — he remarkably woke up without any apparent signs of neurological damage.

- The power of community prayer sparked a healing miracle that doctors can't explain.

- - - - - < ^ ~ , , ~ ^ > - - - - -

The end of Grayson Kirby seemed inevitable when he was thrown from a demolition derby car at the Mid - Atlantic Power Festival in Ruckersville, VA, in June 2014.

The accident left him in a coma. His lungs were crushed and nearly every other bone in his body was broken. His brain also suffered multiple strokes and hemorrhages and his kidneys were failing. If he did wake up, he would likely — to put it bluntly — be a vegetable.

But his family refused to give up and turned to prayer. Thousands of people in the community and beyond kept Kirby in their thoughts and prayers and wore red shirts designed to show support for the injured man.

In a final attempt to revive Kirby, doctors hooked him up to a machine typically used for transplant patients, not trauma patients. Whether it was due to a divine intervention or medical intervention (or both), it worked. (What if it was your son or daughter?)

Ten days after the accident, Kirby opened his eyes and mouthed the words, “I love you,” to his father.

The doctors couldn't believe it, and neither could Kirby.

“I’m humble, I’m grateful, just amazed.” Kirby said, “I know that God saved me. I know that prayer and folks believing in God saved me.”

- Vatican confirms Colorado boy was healed by nun from the beyond the grave.

- - ----- < ^ ~ , , ~ ^ > ----- - -

The Roman Catholic Church has a rigid, formalized vetting process when evaluating miracles, which are defined as divine events that have no natural or scientific explanation. Investigating a single miracle could take years.

After a 14 - year process, the Vatican released its verdict on a young boy's sudden recovery from a debilitating gastrointestinal condition: 'It was a miracle.'

Doctors tried everything: antibiotics, diets, and tests. But it seemed nothing could stop 4 – year - old Luke Burgie from literally wasting away in 1998.

The eight to 10 violent bouts of diarrhea he experienced every day for six months forced him to drop out of preschool.

After doctors began to suspect cancer, the boy's mother, a devout Catholic, began looking outside of medicine for a cure. She asked Nuns to pray for Luke. (What if this was your son or daughter? Think about this for a time.)

Sister Margaret Mary Preister and the late Sister Evangeline Spenner knew what to do.

They asked the founder of their order, Mother Theresia Bonzel, a German Nun who lived 100 - years ago, to intervene. The Nuns prayed a novena, a nine-day prayer vigil, asking Bonzel to heal Luke.

As soon as their novena was complete, Luke woke up and his stomach no longer hurt him. The illness never returned.

“I knew immediately that it was a miracle,” mother Jan Burgie said.

We've all heard that married people live longer. But for one man, marriage literally saved his life. (Married people who pray together really do live longer.)

Donnie Register was working the cash register at his store located in the Antique Market in Jackson, Miss., when two men walked in and held him at gunpoint and demanded money.

A shot was fired at Register's head as he threw up his hands. Remarkably, his wedding ring deflected the bullet. Pieces of the bullet lodged into his neck and fingers, but none of his injuries were fatal.

Register, who has been married for 38 years, doesn't chalk it up to luck. He believes his marriage saved his life.

"I knew being married was a good thing," he said. "I just didn't know it was that good."

His wife gives God all the credit, and says this story is a good reminder that men should always wear their wedding rings.

Pope Francis is often called the pope of surprises. Could he also be the pope of miracles?

St. Gennaro was martyred in A.D. 305. Today, Gennaro serves as Naples' patron saint. During the three feast days for St. Gennaro celebrated each year, it is believed that enough prayer can liquify a vial containing the saint's dried blood.

At Mass held on March 21, 2015, Pope Francis was given the vial. When the pope kissed the vial, the blood half - liquified. The cardinal called the scientifically inexplicable liquefaction a miracle.

This was the first time the blood has been liquefied by a pope since 1848, when it did so in front of Pope Pius IX.

'Science cannot provide all the answers'

Why do so many scientists believe in God? Tim Radford reports

Colin Humphreys is a dyed - in - the-wool materialist. That is, he is professor of materials science at Cambridge. He believes in the power of science to explain the nature of matter. He believes that humans - like all other living things - evolved through the action of natural selection upon random mutation. He is also a Baptist. He believes in the story of Moses, as recounted in the biblical book of Exodus. He believes in it enough to have explored Egypt and the Holy Land in search of natural or scientific explanations for the story of the burning bush, the 10 - plagues of Egypt, the crossing of the Red Sea and the manna that fell in the wilderness -and then written a book about it.

"I believe that the scientific world view can explain almost anything," he says. "But I just think there is another world view as well."

Tom McLeish is professor of polymer physics at Leeds. Supermarket plastic bags are polymers, but so are spider's silk, sheep's wool, sinew and flesh and bone. His is the intricate world of what is, and how it works, down to the molecular level. He delights in the clarity and power of science, precisely because it is questioning rather than dogmatic.

"But the questions that arise, and the methods we use to ask them, can be traced back to the religious tradition in which I find myself.

Doing science is part of what it means in that tradition to be human. Because we find ourselves in this puzzling, extraordinary universe of pain and beauty, we will also find ourselves able to explore it, by adopting the very successful methods of science," he says.

Russell Stannard is now emeritus professor of physics at the Open University. He is one of the atom - smashers, picking apart the properties of matter, energy, space and time, and the author of a delightful series of children's books about tough concepts such as relativity theory. He believes in the power of science. He not only believes in God, he believes in the Church of England. He, like Tom McLeish, is a lay reader. He has contributed Thoughts for the Day to Radio 4, those morning homilies on the mysteries of existence. Does it worry him that science - his science - could be about to explain the whole story of space, time matter and energy without any need for a Creator? "No, because a starting point you can have is: why is there something rather than nothing? Why is there a world? Now I cannot see how science could ever provide an answer," he says.

Stannard will be one of a small group of scientists and theologians, having a go at the question next week in Birmingham. The Science and Religion Forum, founded by a group of scientists 25 - years - ago, meets on Monday to discuss questions such as the place of humans in the universe. They are not likely to actually come up with an answer, but they will certainly give the question a bashing. The forum embraces what one of its begetters, Arthur Peacocke, pioneer of DNA research in Britain, called "wistful agnostics" and sceptics, as well as Christians and people from other faiths. "It's about how we can worship a creator God who is creating now, and still hold on to the scientific world view as we understand it," says Phil Edwards, who trained in physics but is now a chaplain to the Bolton Institute.

The subject - the place of humans in the universe - is a challenge. To the scientific way of thinking, humans no more have a "place" in the scheme of things than hamsters or harp seals. The universe itself may be an incomprehensible event, and life a so far unexplained one, but scientists see no ladder of creation with humans at the pinnacle. They can see no "purpose" in being. We are here because we are here, a lucky accident - lucky for us - but there was nothing inevitable about the evolution of humanity, or its survival. God is not part of the explanation.

That is how scientists have grown to think, whether they come from a religious background or not. But modern science did not emerge 400 years ago to challenge religion, the orthodoxy of the past 2,000 years. Generations of thinkers and experimenters and observers - often themselves Churchmen - wanted to explain how God worked his wonders.

Modern physics began with a desire to explain the clockwork of God's creation. Modern geology grew at least partly out of searches for evidence of Noah's flood. Modern biology owes much to the urge to marvel at the intricacy of Divine providence.

But the scientists - a word coined only in 1833 - who hoped to find God somehow painted HIM out of the picture. By the late 20th century, physicists were confident of the history of the universe back to the first thousandth of a second, and geneticists and biochemists were certain that all living things could be traced back to some last universal common ancestor that lived perhaps 3.5 - billion - years - ago.

A few things - what actually happened in the Big Bang; how living, replicating things emerged from a muddle of organic compounds - remain riddles. But few now consider these riddles to be incapable of solutions. So, although the debate did not start out as science versus religion, that is how many people now see it.

Paradoxically, this is not how many scientists see it. In the US, according to a survey published in Nature in 1997, four out of 10 scientists believe in God. Just over 45% said they did not believe, and 14.5% described themselves as doubters or agnostics. This ratio of believers to non-believers had not changed in 80 years. Should anybody be surprised?

"A lot of people are surprised. I think people have grown up to believe that science and Christianity are at loggerheads, and that is what the average man in the street believes," says Colin Humphreys. "I think you can explain the universe without invoking God at all. And you can explain humans without invoking God at all, I think. But where I differ from the people who say, OK, the universe started with a big bang - if it did, it's not too sure but let's say it did - and everything else was chance event, then I would say that God is the God of chance and HE had HIS plan and purpose, which is working out very subtly, but through these chance events."

He, like most scientists do in this debate, mentions Richard Dawkins, the Oxford zoologist and professor of the public understanding of science, whose rationalist stance is well known, and vigorously argued.

The real argument here is not about the importance of science, or its value to humanity. "You have to recognize that science is enormously powerful in going for the jugular, reducing complexity to its simple structures," says Tom McLeish. "But it puts it back together again, and that is important to stress, because, from Keats onwards, we have been accused of unweaving the rainbow, and never weaving it back again. That is not true."

Doubt, expressed most potently 3,000 - years - ago in the biblical book of Job, is the greatest scientific tool ever invented, he says. To do good science, you have to doubt everything, including your ideas, your experiments and your conclusions. "People like Richard Dawkins characterize religion as doubtless, tub - thumping, blind certainty. But it isn't like that; he knows it is not like that. There is Job, on his ash - heap, doubting everything, but wondering where the light comes from, and how the hail forms."

Russell Stannard says that when he became a reader in the Church of England 40 - years - ago, he was considered a bit of an oddball. But things have changed.

"You get a few scientists like Richard Dawkins and Peter Atkins [professor of chemistry at Oxford] who at least talk as though they cannot understand how a scientist could possibly be religious. But I would say that, generally speaking, throughout the scientific community there is considerable acceptance that, OK, although one might not be a religious person oneself, one's fellow scientist can be."

Colin Humphreys says that quite a number of his colleagues at Cambridge are also believers. "My impression is - and it is just an impression - that there are many more scientists on the academic staff who are believers than arts people."

Tom McLeish says something similar. He cheerfully offers several reasons why that might be so, one of which might be called the postmodernist effect. "Our dear friends in the humanities do get themselves awfully confused about whether the world exists, about whether each other exists, about whether words mean anything. Until they have sorted out whether cats and dogs exist or not or are only figments in the mind of the reader, let alone the writer, then they are going to have problems talking about God."

Within biology itself, there is an intense argument about evolutionary origins of qualities such as altruism - the sacrifice of self for others - and the enduring belief in God or gods, and an afterlife, with the possibility of some kind of calling to account. Robert Winston, the fertility pioneer, Labor peer and professor at Hammersmith Hospital is Jewish. This represents a huge tradition of values that are important to him. At the age of 30 he went back to the synagogue because, he felt, he needed the discipline of Judaism, although this is not quite the same as believing in God, and he confesses to having been through various phases of observance. In the last chapter of his book "The Human Instinct" he said he felt it was very likely that spirituality - the feeling of something beyond mortal life - had been important in survival during the Ice Age, and through periods of great deprivation.

"The great question is whether or not that spirituality is God-given, or whether it actually evolved because it was needed," he says. "I'm still sitting on the fence."

Stannard has fewer doubts. "I would say that God does take a personal interest in us. If you were allowed one word to describe God by, that word would be love.

That does not come from evolution by natural selection, it seems to come from somewhere else, and the whole idea of morals does not naturally arise out of evolution. Biologists will talk about altruism, but they are using it in a very technical sense, which is not the religious idea of altruism. It is more a case of you scratch my back and I will scratch yours."

Richard Dawkins, however, remains unmoved. Is there a limit to what science can explain? Very possibly. But in that case, what on earth makes anyone think religion can do any better?

"I once reached this point when I asked the then professor of astrophysics at Oxford to explain the origin of the universe to me," he says. "He did so, and I posed my supplementary: 'Where did the laws of physics come from in the first place?'"

He smiled: 'Ah, now we move beyond the realm of science. This is where I have to hand over to our good friend the chaplain.' My immediate thought was, 'But why the chaplain? Why not the gardener or the chef?' If science itself cannot say where the laws of physics ultimately come from, there is no reason to expect that religion will do any better and rather good reasons to think it will do worse."

And unlike many news organizations, we have chosen an approach that allows us to keep our journalism accessible to all, regardless of where they live or what they can afford.

The Guardian is editorially independent, meaning we set our own agenda. Our journalism is free from commercial bias and not influenced by billionaire owners, politicians or shareholders. No one edits our editor. No one steers our opinion. This is important as it enables us to give a voice to those less heard, challenge the powerful and hold them to account. It's what makes us different to so many others in the media, at a time when factual, honest reporting is critical.

Every contribution we receive from readers like you, big or small, goes directly into funding our journalism. This support enables us to keep working as we do – but we must maintain and build on it for every year to come. Support The Guardian from as little as $1 – and it only takes a minute. Faith & Doubt

Part 4 – How Can I Believe in Miracles in an Age of Science? I Corinthians 15, selections

Rev. Jeff Chapman ~ July 6, 2008 ~ Faith Presbyterian Church

Now I should remind you, brothers and sisters, of the good news that I proclaimed to you, which you in turn received, in which also you stand, through which also you are being saved, if you hold firmly to the message that I proclaimed to you — unless you have come to believe in vain.

For I handed on to you as of first importance what I in turn had received: that Christ died for our sins in accordance with the scriptures, and that he was buried, and that he was raised on the third day in accordance with the scriptures, and that he appeared to Cephas, then to the twelve.

Then he appeared to more than five hundred brothers and sisters at one time, most of whom are still alive, though some have died. Then he appeared to James, then to all the apostles. Last of all, as to someone untimely born, he appeared also to me...

Now if Christ is proclaimed as raised from the dead, how can some of you say there is no resurrection of the dead?

If there is no resurrection of the dead, then Christ has not been raised; and if Christ has not been raised, then our proclamation has been in vain and your faith has been in vain.... If Christ has not been raised, your faith is futile. If for this life only we have hoped in Christ, we are of all people most to be pitied. (I Corinthians 15, selections, New Revised Standard Version)

And you are still in your sins. Then those also who have died in Christ have perished.

The Christian claim of miracles presents, for many people, a chasm full of questions and doubts. Any number of thoughtful people might say, “The Bible is filled with accounts of miracles, things that happened which simply cannot be explained by science. Therefore, how can rationale, informed people these days still believe in what the Bible teaches?”

It’s a fair question.

Renowned atheist, Richard Dawkins, is a little more pointed on this issue. He writes, “The virgin birth, the Resurrection, the raising of Lazarus, even the Old Testament miracles, all are freely used for religious propaganda, and they are very effective with an audience of unsophisticated and children.

Let me ask you a question. How many of you here today believe in miracles, believe that they either have happened, or still do happen? Well, according to Richard Dawkins, if your hand is up you all fit into one of two categories. Either you are a child, and it’s charming that you still believe. Or you are an ignorant fool who doesn’t know any better, and it’s pitiful that you still believe. I’ll let you each decide into which category you fall.

Now, that may immediately put you on the defensive. It may not. Either way, how would you respond to somebody with that perspective?

How would you respond to somebody who asked you how, in this day and age, you can still believe these ancient, far - fetched tales?

Maybe you have asked the same question. Maybe you have always just believed in the miracles presented in the Bible, but you’d have a particularly hard time today explaining to a skeptic why you believe.

One thing’s for sure. This is a critical question. Because if we claim to be Christians, we must understand that the Christian message depends wholly on the reality of miracles. You can’t have Christianity without miracles.

Just consider the fact that the two major holidays the Church celebrates each year are rooted in the miraculous.

At Christmas we celebrate the historical reality that a young Jewish virgin named Mary really did miraculously gave birth to the Son of God because God somehow created a Y chromosome out of nothing and conceived a child within her womb. And at Easter we celebrate the historical reality that the child Mary bore grew up to be a man who was killed on a cross but then who was, three days later, miraculously raised from the dead.

C.S. Lewis rightly points out:

All the essentials of Hinduism would, I think remain unimpaired if you subtracted the miraculous, and the same is almost true of Islam, but you cannot do that with Christianity. It is precisely the story of a great miracle.

As Paul points out in the passage, we just read from I Corinthians, “If Christ has not been raised, our preaching is useless and so is [our] faith... [if this miracle hasn't happened], your faith is futile... If only for this life we have hope in Christ, we are to be pitied more than all people.”

You need to get this. The reality of miracles is absolutely critical to the Christian faith. If there are no miracles, Christianity collapses into nothing.

Understanding, then, the importance of this question, let's begin by defining exactly what a miracle is.

Things in our world work a certain way. Let's say that this circle represents the way things in our world work. You might call this the “natural order”. And you might say that science is what we use to explain this natural order.

Let me give you an example of something in this natural order which we all understand.

As Sir Isaac Newton long ago discovered, if you're sleeping beneath an apple tree and one of the really ripe red apples comes loose from a tree branch directly above your head, that apple will rapidly fall the distance between the branch and your head and, as it strikes you, most likely succeed in ending your nap.

And that particular, observable phenomenon can be clearly explained by principles of physics, particularly the law of gravity which says that every object in the universe attracts every other object with a force directed along the line of centers for the two objects that is proportional to the product of their two masses and inversely proportional to the square of the separation between the two objects.

Basically, the claim of science is that if something happens in the world – say, an apple falling on your head – then there must be an explanation from within the world which can explain that event. As we learned in school, for every effect in the world, there must be a natural cause.

Of course, we might not always be able to know that cause. For instance, people we know are born with certain diseases and conditions which we don't totally understand. A child is born with autism, for example. And science, at this point, cannot totally explain the cause of autism. Still, scientists believe that some natural cause does exist. And one day, scientists hope, we may very well discover that cause.

So, whether we understand the causes or not, science says that there is a natural order to the way all things work in our world.

Well, along come miracles. And a miracle, by definition, is something which happens in the natural order which cannot be explained by the natural order. It's an effect in the natural order that doesn't have a corresponding cause within the natural order.

An apple, for instance, falls from an apple tree under which I am sitting. But then, half way before it hits the ground it freezes in mid-air, turns into a Hostess apple pie, and then continues the rest of its fall and lands square in my lap where surprised, but grateful, I enjoy a tasty snack.

Assuming that no sleight of hand was involved and the apple really did turn into an apple pie, would you qualify that as a miracle? Of course, you would. Because no amount of science, nothing from within the natural order would ever be able to explain what caused such a phenomenon.

The only explanation, then, is that something outside the natural order, something supernatural, caused the apple to stop mid - air and turn into an apple pie. And that something would be God. Or some god. Or some supernatural force out there beyond the natural order...

By definition, then, a miracle is an instance where God intervenes in the natural order. Understand? One of the things this tells us is that we misuse the word miracle constantly.

The birth of a child, as beautiful and wonderful as that event is, is not a miracle. Because the science of human physiology can explain how it happened.

And when it rains the whole week before your expensive outdoor wedding but then the sun comes the very morning of the ceremony, it's not a miracle. It's fantastic fortune, but any meteorologist worth his salt could explain to you why the sun came out that morning.

And if you come home one day and find that your children have done all their homework without being asked, cleaned not only their rooms but the whole house from top to bottom, and instead of being glued to their video games are now sitting next to each other on the living room couch reading classic literature aloud to one another, well... actually that is a miracle. Nothing in the natural order could ever explain that!

The point is that we misuse the word "miracle" all the time. Again, a miracle is in an instance where God, from outside the Natural order, intervenes with in the natural order. A baby is born of a virgin. A man born blind instantly, and fully, Regains is sight. A man walks on top of the lake without the aid of skis and a powerboat. A man dead three days is raised to life again. These are miracles because in each of these instances God has intervened in the natural order in a way science could never explain.

Well, the skeptic comes along and says, “Hold on. Time out! That’s not possible. Like I said, if you can’t explain the cause of a phenomenon from within the natural order, then it can’t be possible.

If there is not scientific evidence which shows why a dead man suddenly comes to life three days after he got put in the tomb, then I won’t believe it. Because no matter what anybody says, it didn’t happen. It can’t happen.”

But notice something, to make that argument, the skeptic has to do something very important. The skeptic has to completely dismiss the possibility that some supernatural cause exists outside the natural order which might lead to miracles. Follow me?

Therefore, the skeptic who will not even consider the possibility of miracles in this world is left, as best as I can see, with two choices.

One, the skeptic can become an atheist and assert that there is no god, no super natural, at all out there. And that the natural order, what science can explain, is all there is.

There is, however, at least one major problem with this position. How does the atheist then explain the existence of the natural order itself? How does the atheist explain that the universe came into being from nothing and was caused, at the outset, by nothing?

Suddenly the atheist, whose whole argument against miracles has depended on the scientific notion that every effect has a cause, is now left to explain how the effect of the existence of the natural order occurred without some cause. And that has been, and will be, a tremendous problem for the atheist to get around.

Because of this, many skeptics who refuse to accept the possibility of miracles choose agnosticism over atheism. Because an agnostic doesn’t have to deny that God exists, he just says, “Even if God does exist, we can’t know him because God doesn’t choose to intervene in the natural order.” The agnostic even might concede that, at one point, this God created the cosmos. But then God simply walked away from it and let it run on its own. Sort of like the clockmaker who makes the clock, winds it up, and then leaves on the shelf to tick away on its own.

Now, while the agnostic explanation makes more sense than the atheist explanation, both of them are equally faced with a devastating problem.

Because as soon as they make their claims that either God doesn’t exist, or God has left the building, the Christian, simply playing by their own rules, asks, “Well, how do you know? How can you prove to me that what you believe is fact? What scientific experiments have you conducted to show to me that God doesn’t exist? Or that God has left the building?”

And, of course, the skeptic, either atheist or agnostic, is stuck. Because they can't prove their view of God any more than the Christians can prove their view of God.

And so, the real problem for the skeptic is that once he starts talking about the existence or non - existence of God, he has left there all of science, where natural causes and effects can be analyzed. And he has entered into the fields of philosophy and faith where all the rules are different, and where the classical arguments of science don't work anymore.

Ultimately, the skeptic is stuck saying, "Because we can't explain miracles with science, they can't be real. If science can't prove it, I won't believe it. End of story."

In response to this, I love what philosopher Alvin Plantinga writes:

[The skeptic] means to suggest that the very practice of science requires that one reject the idea of God [causing miracles in the natural world]...

This argument... is like the drunk who insisted on looking for his lost car keys only under the streetlight on the grounds that the light was better there. In fact, it would go the drunk one better: it would insist that because the keys would be hard to find in the dark, they must be under the light."

This is why it is my assertion that if you believe in God, you must believe in miracles. That's because God is, by definition, outside of the natural order because HE created the natural order. And, thus, God is not subject to the laws of science. HE made the laws of science. And all those laws do, really, is just describe the created order God designed.

So, if God wants to intervene in the natural order and interrupt the law of gravity causing an apple to freeze mid - air, and then get in and re - tool the molecular structure of that apple and turn it into a Hostess apple pie, who's to stop HIM? As one writer put it, "If God created the cosmos out of nothing, it certainly wouldn't be that difficult for God to, from time to time, rearrange the parts as and when he wishes."

So, I would say that if you don't believe in miracles, your problem isn't really with miracles. Your problem is that you have a weak view of God. Because again, if you believe in God, it's then a rather easy and quite rationale for the next step to believe in miracles.

And this explains precisely why a lot of people get stuck with miracles. Because they try to believe in miracles before they believe in God. They say, "I can't accept that a virgin would conceive a child. I can't accept that the sea would just suddenly part down the middle. I can't accept that a man would walk on water." Well, you can't start there. Who can believe in miracles alone? Nobody. And least nobody with any sense. But again, once we believe in God, believing in miracles is the easiest thing in the world.

Now, even if we understand all this, even if we believe in God who, of course, then has the power to intervene miraculously in the natural order, there may still be a few things around this question which nag at us.

For one, many of us have been told that most scientists, most people who really understand how the natural world exists, have dismissed the reality of miracles. Particularly in our colleges and universities, this is constantly held out to be the way things really are – really smart people don't believe in miracles. Like Richard Dawkins said, it's only children and the unsophisticated who believe a dead man can rise from the grave. Nobody else believes that.

The problem with this assertion is that it simply is not true. Ironically, scientific studies have shown this not to be true.

In 1916, psychologists did a survey among scientists asking them if they believed in a God who intervened in the natural order, at least through prayer. And at that time 40% said they did, 40% said they did not, and 20% weren't sure. Well, in 1997, a very similar survey was conducted, the results of which were published in the scientific journal Nature.

And remarkably, in spite of all the tremendous scientific advancement over the past 80 years, the researchers reported that the numbers had basically remained the same. Even today, nearly half of scientists believe in a God who intervenes in the world.

In my own experience, the percentage of skeptics is just as high among the uneducated as it is the educated. In other words, if you are a person who is going to refuse to open your mind to the possibility of God, then it doesn't really matter how much, or how little, education or knowledge you possess. You're not going to believe because you don't want to believe. It's not just the ignorant who believe. Spend even a little time in Churches near major universities in our country and you will quickly discover that some of the most brilliant minds in our culture believe that Jesus really was raised from the dead.

Some of us would say that a second thing that nags us about miracles is that we don't see them now. Sure, we read about them in the Bible. But why can't we see a man get swallowed by a whale ourselves. Then we could believe. Who here wants to see a man get swallowed by a whale?

But in response I'd first ask you, "How do you know that we don't see miracles today?" What about the critically ill woman who is prayed for and then suddenly, and mysteriously, recovers in ways the doctors can't explain? Who's to say that God didn't intervene in that circumstance? And what about the guy whose life is just a mess but then he meets God and undergoes a total life transformation and becomes a whole new person? Is it possible that God miraculously intervened in his life?

And even if we don't see the kind of miracles today that we read about in the Bible, understand that the Bible is clear that God doesn't always do miraculous signs and wonders. In fact, most of the miracles in the Bible are clustered around three major periods of biblical history: the exodus, the prophets who led Israel, and the time of Christ and the early Church.

Because of this, it's been suggested that rather than just dispensing miracles at random, God seems to perform miracles for very specific purposes at very specific points in history. Always, it seems, biblical miracles are performed to help authenticate a message and a messenger. Remember how Jesus talked about how people should believe his message natural order.

Because of the miracles HE performed. They were meant to show HE was the real deal.

Also, miracles are not performed in the Bible as entertainment. Rather, they are tied to acts which relieve human suffering so that they can demonstrate God's love for us. That's why God doesn't turn apples into apple pies just for the sake of showing off. But God does free people from addictions. God does cure people from disease. And God does raise people from the dead. These are things which, out of his love for us, bring heaven to earth.

Plus, even if we were able to see these miracles today, would that ensure that all of us would become believers? Of course not. The Bible is clear that in Jesus' day plenty of people saw Jesus do miraculous signs and still wouldn't believe.

Jesus himself said that if people will not listen to the testimony of the scriptures, "they will not be convinced even if someone rises from the dead."

Again, some people simply don't want to believe.

Finally, one last thing that nags at us when it comes to miracles.

Sometimes it's just so hard to believe that they really can, or did, happen. I mean, if I would have seen God raise even a couple of dead people back to life, I think I might have an easier time. But I've known a great number of people who have died over the years, and not one of them, as far as I know, has been raised back to life.

Let's be honest about it. In this age of science and reason, miracles are hard to believe in. We may even understand that our Christian faith depends on it. Still, it's hard to swallow.

In it's own way, however, the Bible tells us that's okay. Miracles should be hard to believe in. In fact, it's always been that way. Logic and reason only go so far. At some point, a leap of faith is required from all of us.

I love the picture the Bible gives us at the end of Matthew 28. Jesus has been resurrected and HE has gone, with his 11 closest disciples to the top of a mountain in Galilee. HE's about to ascend back to heaven. These guys have now walked with Jesus for three years and had front row seats to the dozens and dozens of miracles HE performed. And now, they are physically standing there with the resurrected Jesus.

They can see him with their own eyes. They can literally reach out and take his hand and examine the scars in his wrists. There is this greatest miracle of all time right there in front of them.

And what does the text say? Matthew 28:16: "Then the eleven disciples went to Galilee, to the mountain where Jesus had told them to go. When they saw HIM, they worshipped HIM, but some doubted."

HE's right there in front of them. In the flesh. And yet even then, some doubted.

If miracles are hard for you to believe in, at least know that you are in good company. Nobody believes without some measure of faith.

And remember what Jesus said one time to the men and women who actually got to see the miracle of the resurrection. "Because you have seen ME [and this miracle of MY resurrection]," HE said to them, "you have believed. Blessed are those who have not seen and yet have believed." That's us, those who believe but haven't seen. Blessed are you who believe. Amen.

The Next Step

A resource for Life Groups and/or personal application

~ Do you believe in miracles? Why or why not?

~ The claim is made by Paul in I Corinthians 15 that the Christian faith is worthless without miracles, specifically without the miracle of the Resurrection. C.S. Lewis said that “a naturalistic Christianity i.e. a [Christian faith minus miracles] leaves out all that is specifically Christian.” Do you agree? Does faith in Christ necessitate a belief in miracles?

~ Miracles can be defined as instances when God, from outside the natural order, intervenes in the natural order. Using this definition, have you ever witnessed a miracle in your lifetime? If so, why do you believe it was a miracle?

~ How would you describe the relationship which exists between the laws of nature (i.e. the natural order) and miracles?

~ Are there any miracles in the Bible that you simply cannot believe actually happened? If so, why?

~ Read the fascinating parable Jesus tells in Luke 16:19 - 31. Pay particular attention to the reason given in verse 31 to the rich man for why modern - day miracles will not be given to get people to believe. What do you learn from Jesus’ teaching here about miracles and faith?

~ If everybody in the world could see a great miracle of God first hand today, do you think they all would become believers? Why or why not?

~ How do you respond to somebody who tells you that only “children and the unsophisticated” believe in miracles?

7 Stories to Make You Believe in Miracles

Lissa shares 7 stories that will make you believe in miracles and intuitive know

His neurosurgery success rates were impeccable. In spite of how life - threatening his surgeries were, his patients never seemed to die. But this neurosurgeon kept getting migraines, and treatment wasn't working, so he went to see psychologist Elizabeth Lloyd Mayer, author of Extraordinary Knowing. She helped him pinpoint exactly when the headaches began, and it turns out they started right when he stopped teaching medical students and residents at the hospital, which he loved doing. She wondered, 'why did he stop teaching'. He was reluctant to tell her.

Turns out the neurosurgeon's success rates are so high because he waits until a white light surrounds the patient's head. Then - and only then - he knows it's safe to operate. But how can he teach this to medical students?

Surely, he can't train residents to look for halos around people with brain tumors and aneurysms?

Because he felt like he had to hide the mystical experiences that help him guide his patients to safe healing, he quit teaching, and the discord within him led to migraines. He was stuck. He didn't feel it was safe to tell anyone at the university that he sees white lights nobody else sees. But his body was suffering because of how he was betraying his soul. It's the kind of conundrum many face as they keep secrets about how mystery and awe dance with life.

Knowing Things, You Shouldn't Know

I've had similar experiences when I knew things I shouldn't know, and many others I know have experienced similar intuitive knowing's. I was curious, so I asked on my Facebook page if people were willing to publicly share their experiences. Here are a few of the stories.

In April 2012, after serious intent to buy a home in a neighboring town, after bidding on a property, I just flat out and unilaterally decided against it in the eleventh hour.

My family was beyond upset with me. The kids were excited about living in this town, but my gut flat out refused. There was nothing to explain this feeling. The town was perfect, and the home was lovely. I just felt that it was the wrong choice. I am typically accommodating and flexible, but in this instance, I was adamantly against the idea.

We settled on a home within our own town. We moved in June, and the kids started school in September. On December 14, 2012, the unthinkable happened at Sandy Hook Elementary school.

My youngest (a child I never thought I would be able to have and came into this existence ever so unusually to begin with), would have been in that school on that day had I stayed the course. – Christina Lianos

It was Jan 7th, 2013, and while I was tidying my home, I called my mum. There was no answer, and I heard clearly inside me, “She’s taken pills. She needs your help” I tried calling her twice more, but she didn’t answer. I jumped in a cab to her place, and she had taken a box of benzodiazepines. I called an ambulance and she’s with us now, but she almost didn’t make it. – Alexia Briones VandeWalle

My first experience with intuitive knowing helped me to save one of my patients’ lives. It was during training, and I was having difficult accessing the radial artery of a patient in shock. He was clamped down and I could not thread the guide wire. After many futile attempts, I felt so frustrated, knowing that this critical step was necessary to get good data to save my patient’s life. I don’t know what came over me, but I suddenly stepped back from his bed and closed my eyes. A sense of peace came over me. I heard myself in my mind ask for guidance, for help. I don’t know who I was asking, but I felt as though there was a response, a voice that said, “Go ahead.” I thanked the voice and felt energized and reassured. I opened my eyes and stepped up to the patient. Without doubt, hesitation or difficulty, I was able to access the patient’s radial artery immediately.

This helped me to turn the patient around at a crucial time. He eventually walked out of the hospital. It felt as though my hand were guided into the right place by an external force, and this phenomenon gave me a sense of amazement and awe. This was the first time I really felt connected to another level, a benevolent force. Since then, I’ve felt this guidance many, many times when helping to provide solutions to my patients. I firmly believe we have access to a whole other level in order to help each other, and I believe that our Universe is indeed a friendly place that we create on an ongoing basis. - =>

Sean Orr, MD I was living in Germany in the early 70’s. My baby sister, who was pregnant, was living in the Ozarks, Southern Missouri. My intuition kept telling me to send her $300. I was young myself, and didn’t have lots of money, but it was such a strong urge that finally I sent her $300 along with a note saying that I didn’t know why I was sending the money except that a portion of the money would be used for gasoline, and that everything would be alright. She received that money on the day her daughter was born. Her daughter was born with a heart condition and had to be flown immediately to Saint Louis (200 miles away) for open heart surgery. It ended up that a portion of the money was used for gasoline, and that everything turned out alright.

We felt that this was a message that was clearly Divinely inspired. During the ordeal, my sister kept it together emotionally by reminding herself that everything would be alright. – Rhonda Taylor

I was in Rio, Brazil for my brother’s wedding and a few days after the ceremony, we were all sitting relaxing on the beach. My brother had walked down the beach alone about half an hour before I got a terrible, chilling feeling. I just started telling his best friend, “Go find Landon! Go find Landon!” His friend knows my “gut” instinct level well and took off down the beach. He finally got to my brother where a lifeguard had just saved him from the undertow. – Clayton Wright Robinson

When I was 31, I had a feeling I was going to die when I turned 34. I was so terrified by this powerful feeling, I couldn’t tell anyone for years. Finally, as my 34th birthday approached, I shared this with my husband, and he was shaken but determined. It guided me to continue to pursue testing with my doctor, despite signs that all was well. Ultimately, the repeated testing showed that I had extensive breast cancer. As soon as we began to explore that possibility more deeply, I “knew” this was it. My doctor, who taught at Harvard Medical School, used this as a case study to teach his students how to listen to their patients. - Heidi Moot Vancisin

The World Is Full of Awe & Mystery

That most of us have these kinds of experiences from time to time is an exciting thing! The world is more mysterious than scientists can explain! How wonderful!

But I’m puzzled and trying to unpack this issue. Why do so many people keep these miraculous stories under wraps? Why must we shove our truth in the closet? Imagine if we all spoke openly about our mystical experiences? What if we were willing to be simply curious about that which we can’t explain scientifically, rather than feeling compelled to wrap every mystery in a neat little scientific package? What if we could stay open to mystery, awe, and wonder?

Miracles in the E.R.

Here are three healings even a doctor can't explain...

“Doc, I’m tellin’ ya, it was a miracle!” Fresh out of my residency, when one of my ER patients would tell me this, I’d shrug. Not that I didn't believe in miracles. But in the ER, with all its chaos? Not likely. We were all about intervention, not intercession.

Today, after 30 - years as an emergency room doctor, I know differently. I’ve seen healings that medical science can't fully explain. Healings that can only be the work of a power beyond medical intervention. So many stories I’ve written several books. Here are three of my favorites from “Miracles in the ER”.

Two techs rolled 14 – year - old Ben Stevens into the ER’s trauma room with the results of the X-rays I’d ordered. A sprinter on his high school track team, he’d come in with a broken femur. He’d collapsed during a meet, running the 440. The way he’d explained it, the bone had snapped in two near the end of the race. He was healthy, strong. It didn't make any sense.

One of the techs clipped an X - ray onto the view box. I felt the blood drain from my face. “What’s the matter, Dr. Lesslie?” Ben’s mother asked. I couldn't respond. I just stared at the X-ray. The break was irregular, layered haphazardly, like onion rings.

READ MORE: CHRISTIAN PRAYERS BRING MIRACLE HEALING

“Where the femur is broken it looks like bone cancer,” I finally managed to get out. “And I’m afraid it's already fairly advanced.”

I went with the family to an orthopedic surgeon who confirmed the diagnosis. Ben’s leg would have to be amputated. Then there’d be chemo and radiation. Even with intensive treatment, his chances weren't that great. Ben’s mother looked at the surgeon and then at me, all the while gently patting her boy’s shoulder. “He’s in the Lord’s hands,” she said, with a serene confidence that took me aback.

After the surgery I learned that the cancer had spread to Ben’s lungs, three aggressive tumors. He had only months to live.

Three months later his parents brought him back to the ER. He had a fever, chills, aches and a persistent cough. He looked terrible.

“We tried the chemo,” his mother told me. “He got so sick they stopped it after the second treatment. They haven't decided what to do next.”

I turned my attention to Ben. I was concerned that he had pneumonia and that the tumors in his lungs had spread.

“We’ll need to get a chest X-ray,” I said. “I want to be sure he doesn’t have any infection in there. And since it’s January, I’m going to get a flu test. We’re seeing a lot of it now, and that might be a possibility.”

Ben’s father looked despairingly at me, then turned away. No one said another word. I called for a nurse and told her what we needed.

About 20 minutes later, the nurse and an X - ray technician brought Ben back to the ER. I had them put him in Exam Room 4 with his parents while I looked at his X - rays in another room. This time I wanted to be able to compose myself first.

“Doc, the boy in four is positive for the flu. Type A,” the nurse said, reading off a lab slip. That would explain the fever, aches, and cough.

After all, even though he had metastatic bone cancer, he could still get the same things everyone else did. In fact, it was more likely. I flipped on the bright light on the view box.

I had to force myself to look. His lungs. They were completely clear. No pneumonia. And no cancer! His tumors were gone! He just had the run – of – the – mill flu.

I ran over to Room - 4 and told Ben and his parents the news. Ben nodded calmly. His father gaped at me. His mother gasped. Her hands flew to her mouth and tears flowed down her cheeks.

Just as she’d said, Ben had truly been in God’s hands.

READ MORE: WALKING MIRACLE

One Friday in October. The “A” team on duty: Lori Davidson and Charlotte Turner, two of our top nurses, and Amy Connors, our hyper-efficient unit secretary. Staffers who worked unflinchingly through the worst trauma. It had been a hectic night, but for the moment the ER was quiet.

“ER, this is EMS One.” The paramedic’s voice shattered the stillness.

“Go ahead.” Lori had a pen in her hand, ready to take notes.

“Five minutes out with a one - car ten - fifty. Is... Dr. Lesslie nearby?” A 10 - 50 was an auto accident.

“Can you give him the radio and switch off the speakerphone?”

“It must be something bad,” Charlotte said. Lori handed me the receiver. I stepped away from the desk. “This is Dr. Lesslie.”

“This ten - fifty,” said the paramedic, “it’s... the driver is a seventeen – year - old kid, Bobby Green, and he’s fine. Drunk, but fine. The passenger — he wasn’t belted and was ejected from the car. He broke his neck. Doc, it’s Charlotte’s boy, Russell. And he’s dead.”

Reflexively, I glanced at Charlotte. She was talking with Lori. Our eyes met and she froze. “No!”

Charlotte was devastated. For the next year she couldn’t seem to recover from her anger at the young drunk driver.

We had to assign her to the minor trauma department, treating patients with sprained ankles, small cuts, respiratory infections and the like. It saddened me to see her struggling, unable to do the work that was her true calling. I was a doctor, but I had no idea how to help her heal.

One day I was in minor trauma, stitching the finger of a teenage boy, making small talk as the final suture was being knotted. He had been sharpening a lawnmower and the blade had slipped.

“So, what are your plans after you graduate?” I asked.

But he didn’t respond. He was staring at someone behind me.

I turned to see Charlotte. My eyes went to the chart beside my patient. Bobby Green.

How had I not remembered that name? I kept tying knots in that last suture, desperately trying to think of what to do, what to say.

“Mrs. Turner...” Bobby’s voice broke. “I want you to know that —” Charlotte stepped around me. She looked Bobby in the eye. They stayed like that for a long moment, motionless, until finally she reached out and put a hand on his shoulder.

He put his hand on hers. His body shook with sobs. It was done. With those few, simple words she had forgiven him, released him. And she had released herself. A most incredible healing.

Every couple of weeks, for going on two months now, Mildred Jackson had brought her eight – year - old boy, Benny, into the ER with blisters from head to toe. After a few days the rash would go away, only to mysteriously reappear. I was as baffled as the rest of the doctors. We checked his labs but found nothing unusual.

Thankfully, it had been a few weeks since we’d seen Benny. Maybe whatever was ailing him had finally gone away. That night the ER was crowded. I picked up the chart of my next patient. “Danny Totherow. 42 - years - old. Male. Bar fight — head lacerations,” the cover sheet read. He was lying on his back on a stretcher, a blue surgical towel draped over his head.

“How did this happen?” I asked.

Danny’s words were garbled. He was still under the influence of whatever he had imbibed. All I could make out was that someone had hit him with a beer bottle.

Just then the curtain behind me flew open. “Dr. Lesslie, it’s me, Mildred Jackson. And Benny.”

There was Benny sitting on a stretcher, covered with blisters. “I see the rash is back,” I said. “Let me take care of this gentleman and I’ll be with you as soon as I can.”

But Mildred didn’t wait. She went over the entire history of her son’s mystery malady, every ER visit they’d made, everything the doctors had told her before.

Danny rose up on one elbow, peered at Benny, then collapsed back onto the bed. “Hot tub?” he mumbled.

“What was that?” I moved the towel aside.

“Got a hot tub?” “No, we don’t have a hot tub,” Mildred said. “Why?”

Danny muttered something incoherent. But I knew what he was getting at. “No hot tub in the neighborhood?” I asked. “No friends with one?”

“No, we don’t have one and no one — wait, the Pottsies have one in their backyard. Charlie’s one of Benny’s friends. But he’s not allowed in it.”

“Uh-huh,” came the slurred response from Danny.

“Benny, you haven’t been in Charlie’s hot tub, have you?” Mildred looked at her son. He shook his head slowly. “Benny?” She dragged his name out.

Benny’s head - shaking morphed into a slow, sheepish nod. “I’m sorry, Momma. Charlie said it would be okay as long as I didn’t have the rash.”

“Has Charlie ever gotten this rash, Benny?” I asked.

“No, he never did. He never got in the tub. Said it was too nasty.”

“Uh - huh,” Danny mumbled again.

That was the answer. Hot tub dermatitis, a common bacterial infection that causes a bumpy, blistery red rash. The Pottsies’ tub was a regular petri dish — and every time Benny’s rash cleared, he would dip himself in it again. I explained all of this to Mildred.

“Praise the Lord,” she said.

“Uh - huh,” agreed Danny.

I couldn’t have said it better.

Believe It Or Not, You Believe In Miracles

When I was a kid, I had a best friend everyone called Booby. His real name was Bobby, but we called him Booby because he was a little chunky and he had man - boobs. He was all right with us calling him Booby instead of Bobby. What he wasn't okay with was coming down with a rare form of leukemia right after he turned 10.

It really scared him and it terrified me. Not only did I not want to lose my best friend, but I also hadn't ever thought about death before and it scared the living snot out of me.

Booby's doctors told him that he had very little chance — they actually effectively said that he was a lost cause and to just enjoy the rest of his time on Earth as much as he could.

Well, I didn't accept that, so, I prayed. Having had been raised by devoutly agnostic mother, I had never prayed before that and I really didn't know how to do it or to whom I should pray, so I offered an earnest plea to God or to the universe, I'm not sure what. I asked for Booby to be healed and in exchange I would give up the one thing my pre-adolescent mind could imagine being a beneficial sacrifice: McDonald's French fries. Well, months passed and Booby stuck it out. He got bad, but eventually started to improve. After his improvement, the doctors took note and put him on a controversial treatment and after a year Booby went into full remission. He lives in New York with a wife and kid and I still see him from time to time. I haven't had McDonald's fries since.

Miracles happen

That's why, when I heard of another miracle recently, I wasn't surprised. A few hours ago, I met a beautiful young woman (that's not the miracle). She told me that she was a virgin and was pregnant.

That's right — she's pregnant without having had a conjugal experience. Oh, and by the way, her name is Mary. Yeah, Mary, as in the same name as that other virgin mother they like to talk about around the winter solstice.

I was presented with two options: (1) take her word for it or (2) write her off as crazy, albeit irresistibly beautiful. I decided to take her word for it because I know miracles happen. Now, I'm not some naïve country bumpkin religious zealot who falls for religious chicanery and I'm not crazy, but I believe in miracles and believe it or not, you believe in miracles too.

You read me right. You, with the 'Darwin is my homeboy' T - shirt, you believe in miracles. Let me explain. To believe in a miracle, you must believe three things:

(1) a highly improbable event was (2) caused by a supernatural being for which (3) you cannot prove scientifically. I'm going to attempt to explain how this is not only reasonable, but how it is essential in our daily lives and that, believe it or not you in fact do believe in miracles.

First, you believe that highly improbable things happen and that they happen all the time. Nassim Taleb has written volumes explaining the black swan theory that shows how nearly all major scientific discoveries, historical events, and artistic accomplishments are extremely rare, unpredictable occurrences. "Black swan" was a term used for an impossibility since black swans weren't thought to exist until an explorer found one in eighteenth century Australia.

The rise of religions, cultural phenomenon's like "Harry Potter", and terrorist attacks are all black swan events, according to Taleb. Most every big event in history is rare, unpredictable, and difficult to predict. So, paradoxically, highly improbable events are actually highly probable, just not predictable.

Second, you believe in supernatural causation. Because you're smart, you probably believe science, and if you believe science, you believe the principle of causality and that everything in the observable universe has a cause. That applies to the universe and nature as a whole also.

Scientifically speaking, it would be unnatural for something in nature to create itself especially out of nothing, or without a cause — there simply is no empirical data showing such a phenomenon. So, either science is wrong or something supernatural created the universe and all of nature. If that's the case, it only stands to reason that such a supernatural cause influences events throughout history, either spontaneously at each event or just once at the beginning of the universe, which is a mechanical reaction to that creator. Regardless of the method by which this supernatural being influences events in nature, it makes sense to believe it does.

Lastly, and most importantly, you have faith even in things you cannot know scientifically. For instance, you have faith that when you jump into a cab that the driver is going to take you where you want to go and not kidnap you. I have faith that when I bite into my chicken sandwich at lunch, that the chef fully cooked the bird and I won't get sick.

And your friend has faith that the anesthesiologist won't harvest her organs when she goes under for her dental surgery. We don't know any of these things for sure — we cannot since they're in the future — but we act as if we do because we have faith that is the case. If we all didn't consistently have faith in things we can't absolutely know, no one would get anywhere. We'd be trapped in our homes afraid to take cabs, eat chicken, or go to the dentist. Some people say that truth is only that which is proven by science. But science itself can't prove that, so it is contradictory. You must believe in things not proven by science, if only that science is true.

So, there you have it. You believe in highly improbable events, a supernatural cause, and things for which you can't have scientific proof. What are miracles but highly improbable events with a supernatural cause that are impossible to prove scientifically? When you add that all up, you'll see that belief in miracles is not only reasonable, it's essential to your daily existence.

The interesting thing is that I didn't know the reasoning behind all this when I prayed to the universe for my best friend Booby. I just knew that it would work. And when I heard Mary's story, I knew that she was experiencing a miracle. I believed it.

And you should too. Why? One's beliefs make a difference. In my forthcoming book Believing Is Seeing I describe exactly how.

The field of theoretical physics has recently uncovered some shocking findings, specifically regarding belief. Through quantum uncertainty, we're learning that there's no such thing as a predetermined outcome and that the single most important factor in one's life is belief. The great Napoleon Hill wrote, "Mental attitude controls, very largely, the space one occupies in life, the success one achieves, the friends one makes, and the contributions one makes to posterity. It would be no great overstatement of the truth if we said that mental attitude is everything."

Belief is what makes the difference in sports between a clutch play and a choke.

Knowing an idea will work against all odds is how inventions lead to products that change the world.

And it's always the confident ones who get the dates on Friday and the self - doubters who suffer alone at home. And it's becoming clear that you can believe in anything, just as long as you believe in something. Simply believing is integral to our lives and actually shapes our destiny.

Viktor Frankl wrote of Jews who made it through Nazi concentration camps not because they were the healthiest prisoners, but because they believed that they had something to live for. Belief can also change the world. Joan of Arc gained control of the French Army and turned the tide of the 100 - year's war because she believed she heard voices from St. Michael the archangel. And who knows, the young lady I met in a coffee shop who believes she's carrying a miracle baby could bring in a new era of hope throughout the world if only people believe.

A 30 – year - old cancer survivor, a drop - dead gorgeous virgin mother, and I all believe in miracles. And whether or not you like to admit it, so do you. You might as well make the most out of it.

Miracles Science Can't Explain. YOU => Need to back and read again to page 5.

Catch Your Miracle with Heidi Baker! | Extended Interview with Sid Roth

Jun 17, 2018 => This is the extended version of Sid Roth's interview with Heidi Baker.

How does Heidi Baker face challenges when she ministers to the people of Mozambique?

She immerses herself in the Presence of God. Heidi wants you to learn how to release the atmosphere of Heaven — and prevail. Living from the Presence of God starts here! — Sid Are you living your life, or your life in HIM? Your old life is crucified in Jesus, remember? And the new life is better! Heidi Baker says walking in the power of your “new man” isn’t very complicated. It’s not about studying doctrines and signing up for ministry programs. It’s about yielding your time to God. It’s about relationship.

Heidi shows you how to encounter God’s Presence. She shows you the keys to living connected to your living God. Not everyone is willing! Many get stuck for long seasons.

The first step to breakthrough is to let God set your agenda. You can surrender or hold on to what isn’t working. Let Heidi help!

Heidi says when you learn to live from God’s Presence, your life and personal ministry will find a new order. What your family and community will encounter is God’s order, and you will learn to release the atmosphere of heaven into your spheres of influence.

Along with 8 sessions on the 4 - CD set, you get her interactive manual, a 40 - day journey to help you encounter God’s Glory and Presence. Let the transformation begin now. Heidi Baker founded Iris Ministries with her husband, Rolland.

Together they served as missionaries in Indonesia, Hong Kong, and the streets of London before following God’s calling in 1995 to Mozambique.

The Bakers now watch God provide miraculously for over 7,000 children. Heidi is the author of Compelled By Love and co-author with Rolland of Always Enough and Expecting Miracles. <https://www.irisglobal.org>

“Remember from where they may really be coming from, “As man or woman eats really the fruit of his or her own lips.” People get what they speak out aloud and are judged for that and as they do go on and judge others.

“Remember from where they or anyone may be really coming from, “Just as a woman eats really the fruit of her own lips talking, screaming out loud or even softly say aloud, also.” - “Just as a man eats really the fruit of his own lips talking, screaming out loud or even softly say aloud, also.” Okay, for the rest of us – well for a few of us – those that as we have accepted God’s grace – we have accepted the fact that we have been washed clean by the healing blood of Christ. That Jesus died for our sins on the cross. This opened the small gate to the narrow path and the narrow gate for us to go through judgement and to stay in Heaven.

It is really very simple.

Jesus died for you or HE didn't.

Yes. Jesus died for YOU Evelyn or YOU or Jesus DID NOT die for YOU?

“It is really just that simple. Jesus and God will accept YOU – just as you are. Even with pain in your heart. It really is HE (Jesus) either did really die for you or HE did not.

You don't feel that, you can only sense that. You accept that as a real fact. You don't feel that, you sense and really know that as fact. Then - satan and his demons NO longer have any authority over you, or for us, or for me, as we now belong to Jesus and those demons must leave us, must be away from us, must be gone – must depart out of our lives – must depart our homes – must depart our area – must just depart, and must get out of here satan.”

Am I supposed to be obedient and go to Bible believing Church?

Matthew 15:5 - 6 => But you say, ‘Even if your parents are in need, you may give their support money to the Church instead.’ And so, by your man-made rule, you nullify the direct command of God to honor and care for your parents.

Matthew 18:17 => If he still refuses to listen, then take your case to the Church, and if the Church’s verdict favors you, but he won't accept it, then the Church should excommunicate him.

Acts 9:31 => Meanwhile, the Church had peace throughout Judea, Galilee and Samaria, and grew in strength and numbers. The believers learned how to walk in the fear of the Lord and in the comfort of the Holy Spirit.

Acts 11:22 => When the Church at Jerusalem heard what had happened, they sent Barnabas to Antioch to help the new converts.

Acts 11:30 => This they did, consigning their gifts to Barnabas and Paul to take to the elders of the Church in Jerusalem.

Acts 12:5 => But earnest prayer was going up to God from the Church for his safety all the time he was in prison.

Acts 14:23 => Paul and Barnabas also appointed elders in every Church and prayed for them with fasting, turning them over to the care of the Lord in whom they trusted.

Acts 15:6 => So the apostles and Church elders set a further meeting to decide this question.

Acts 15:22 => Then the apostles and elders and the whole congregation voted to send delegates to Antioch with Paul and Barnabas, to report on this decision. The men chosen were two of the Church leaders — Judas (also called Barsabbas) and Silas.

Acts 15:40 - 41 => while Paul chose Silas and, with the blessing of the believers, left for Syria and Cilicia to encourage the Churches there.

Acts 18:22 => The next stop was at the port of Caesarea from where he visited the Church at Jerusalem and then sailed on to Antioch.

Acts 18:27 => Apollos had been thinking about going to Greece, and the believers encouraged him in this. They wrote to their fellow - believers there, telling them to welcome him. And upon his arrival in Greece, he was greatly used of God to strengthen the Church, (YOU by attending Church each week for you to strengthen your relationship with God.)

Acts 20:17 => But when we landed at Miletus, he sent a message to the elders of the Church at Ephesus asking them to come down to the boat to meet him.

Acts 21:18 => The second day Paul took us with him to meet with James and the elders of the Jerusalem Church.

Romans 1:11 - 12 => For I long to visit you so that I can impart to you the faith that will help your Church grow strong in the Lord. Then, too, I need your help, for I want not only to share my faith with you but to be encouraged by yours: Each of us will be a blessing to the other. (OKAY! How else will you get more faith?)

Romans 1:13 => I want you to know, dear brothers (and sisters), that I planned to come many times before (but was prevented) so that I could work among you and see good results, just as I have among the other Gentile Churches.

Romans 14:19 => In this way aim for harmony in the Church and try to build each other up.

Romans 15:20 => But all the while my ambition has been to go still farther, preaching where the name of Christ has never yet been heard, rather than where a Church has already been started by someone else.

Romans 15:27 => They were very glad to do this, for they feel that they owe a real debt to the Jerusalem Christians. Why? Because the news about Christ came to these Gentiles from the Church in Jerusalem. And since they received this wonderful spiritual gift of the Gospel from there, they feel that the least they can do in return is to give some material aid.

Romans 16:1 - 2 => Phoebe, a dear Christian woman from the town of Cenchreae, will be coming to see you soon. She has worked hard in the Church there. Receive her as your sister in the Lord, giving her a warm Christian welcome. Help her in every way you can, for she has helped many in their needs, including me.

Romans 16:4 => In fact, they risked their lives for me, and I am not the only one who is thankful to them; so are all the Gentile Churches.

Romans 16:23 => Gaius says to say hello to you for him. I am his guest, and the Church meets here in his home. Erastus, the city treasurer, sends you his greetings and so does Quartus, a Christian brother.

1 Corinthians 1:10 => But, dear brothers, I beg you in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ to stop arguing among yourselves. Let there be real harmony so that there won't be splits in the Church. I plead with you to be of one mind, united in thought and purpose.

1 Corinthians 1:15 => For now, no one can think that I have been trying to start something new, beginning a “Church of Paul.”

1 Corinthians 4:17 => That is the very reason why I am sending Timothy — to help you do this. For he is one of those I won to Christ, a beloved and trustworthy child in the Lord. He will remind you of what I teach in all the Churches wherever I go.

Do I need to be obedient?

Deuteronomy 13:18 => “Of course, the Lord your God will be merciful only if you have been obedient to HIM and to HIS commandments that I am giving you today, and if you have been doing that which is right in the eyes of the Lord.

Psalm 105:45 => This was done to make them faithful and obedient to his laws. Hallelujah!

Psalm 119:101 => I have refused to walk the paths of evil, for I will remain obedient to your Word.

Isaiah 2:5 => O Israel, come, let us walk in the light of the Lord and be obedient to his laws!

Malachi 3:17 => “They shall be mine,” says the Lord Almighty, “in that day when I make up my jewels. And I will spare them as a man spares an obedient and dutiful son.

Luke 2:51 => Then he returned to Nazareth with them and was obedient to them; and his mother stored away all these things in her heart.

1 Timothy 3:12 => Deacons should have only one wife, and they should have happy, obedient families.

Titus 2:5 => and to be sensible and clean minded, spending their time in their own homes, being kind and obedient to their husbands so that the Christian faith can't be spoken against by those who know them.

Titus 3:1 => Remind your people to obey the government and its officers, and always to be obedient and ready for any honest work.

1 John 3:6 => So if we stay close to him, obedient to him, we won't be sinning either; but as for those who keep on sinning, they should realize this: They sin because they have never really known him or become his.

Ten Commandants

Exodus 25:16 => When the Ark is finished, place inside it the tablets of stone I will give you, with the Ten Commandments engraved on them.

Exodus 30:6 => Place the altar just outside the veil, near the place of mercy that is above the Ark containing the Ten Commandments. I will meet with you there.

Exodus 31:18 => Then, as God finished speaking with Moses on Mount Sinai, he gave him the two tablets of stone on which the Ten Commandments were written with the finger of God.

Exodus 32:15 => Then Moses went down the mountain, holding in his hands the Ten Commandments written on both sides of two stone tablets.

Exodus 34:28 => Moses was up on the mountain with the Lord for forty days and forty nights, and in all that time he neither ate nor drank. At that time God wrote out the Covenant — the Ten Commandments — on the stone tablets.

Exodus 39:33 - 40 => Then they brought the entire Tabernacle to Moses: Furniture; clasps; frames; bars; Posts; bases; layers of covering for the roof and sides — the rams' skins dyed red, the specially tanned goatskins, and the entrance drape;

the Ark with the Ten Commandments in it; The carrying poles; The place of mercy; The table and all its utensils; The Bread of the Presence; The pure gold lampstand with its lamps, utensils, and (Blessed Olive Oil) oil; The gold altar; The anointing oil; The sweet incense; The curtain - door of the Tabernacle; The bronze altar; The bronze grating; The poles and the utensils;

The washbasin and its base; The drapes for the walls of the court and the posts holding them up; The bases and the drapes at the gate of the court; The cords and nails; All the utensils used there in the work of the Tabernacle.

Exodus 40:3 => In its place the Ark containing the Ten Commandments; and install the veil to enclose the Ark within the Holy of Holies.

Exodus 40:20 => Inside the Ark he placed the stones with the Ten Commandments engraved on them and attached the carrying poles to the Ark and installed the gold lid, the place of mercy.

Leviticus 16:13 => There before the Lord he shall put the incense upon the coals, so that a cloud of incense will cover the mercy place above the Ark (containing the stone tablets of the Ten Commandments); thus he will not die.

Deuteronomy 4:13 => HE proclaimed the laws you must obey — the Ten Commandments — and wrote them on two stone tablets.

Deuteronomy 10:4 => HE again wrote the Ten Commandments on them and gave them to me. (They were the same commandments HE had given you from the heart of the fire on the mountain as you all watched below.)

Deuteronomy 10:8 => It was there that Jehovah set apart the tribe of Levi to carry the Ark containing the Ten Commandments of Jehovah, and to stand before the Lord and to do HIS work and to bless HIS name, just as is done today.

Deuteronomy 31:9 => Then Moses wrote out the laws he had already delivered to the people and gave them to the priests, the sons of Levi, who carried the Ark containing the Ten Commandments of the Lord. Moses also gave copies of the laws to the elders of Israel.

Deuteronomy 31:25 => HE instructed the Levites who carried the Ark containing the Ten Commandments

Joshua 8:32 => And as the people of Israel watched, Joshua carved upon the stones of the altar each of the Ten Commandments.

2 Kings 11:12 => Then Jehoiada brought out the young prince and put the crown upon his head and gave him a copy of the Ten Commandments and anointed him as king. Then everyone clapped and shouted, “Long live the king!”

Luke 18:20 => “But as to your question, you know what the Ten Commandments say — don’t commit adultery, don’t murder, don’t steal, don’t lie, honor your parents, and so on.”

Acts 7:44 => “Our ancestors carried along with them a portable Temple, or Tabernacle, through the wilderness. In it they kept the stone tablets with the Ten Commandments written on them. This building was constructed in exact accordance with the plan shown to Moses by the Angel.

Romans 5:20 => The Ten Commandments were given so that all could see the extent of their failure to obey God’s laws. But the more we see our sinfulness, the more we see God’s abounding grace forgiving us.

Romans 13:9 => If you love your neighbor as much as you love yourself, you will not want to harm or cheat him or kill him or steal from him.

And you won't sin with his wife or want what is HIS or do anything else the Ten Commandments say is wrong. All ten are wrapped up in this one, to love your neighbor as you love yourself.

2 Corinthians 3:6 => HE is the one who has helped us tell others about HIS new agreement to save them. We do not tell them that they must obey every law of God or die; but we tell them there is life for them from the Holy Spirit. The old way, trying to be saved by keeping the Ten Commandments, ends in death; in the new way, the Holy Spirit gives them life.

2 Corinthians 3:15 => Yes, even today when they read Moses' writings their hearts are blind, and they think that obeying the Ten Commandments is the way to be saved.

Galatians 3:17 => Here's what I am trying to say: God's promise to save through faith — and God wrote this promise down and signed it — could not be canceled or changed four hundred and thirty years later when God gave the Ten Commandments.

Galatians 4:24 - 25 => Now this true story is an illustration of God's two ways of helping people. One way was by giving them his laws to obey.

HE did this on Mount Sinai, when HE gave the Ten Commandments to Moses. Mount Sinai, by the way, is called "Mount Hagar" by the Arabs — and in my illustration, Abraham's slave-wife Hagar represents Jerusalem, the mother - city of the Jews, the center of that system of trying to please God by trying to obey the Commandments; and the Jews, who try to follow that system, are her slave children.

Ephesians 6:2 => Honor your father and mother. This is the first of God's Ten Commandments that ends with a promise.

Ten Commandants

The Ten Commandments were written by God upon two tablets of stone and then given to Moses on Mount Sinai.

Most scholars date this event around the 13th or 14th century BC. God gave the Decalogue, or 10 Commandments, to the Israelites shortly after they left Egypt. The record of the Ten Commandments can be found in the Bible, both in Exodus 20:2 - 17 and Deuteronomy 5:6 - 21.

Keep the Sabbath day Holy

How to Keep the Sabbath as a Christian => By Erik Jones

---

Christians who take God's Sabbath command seriously often wonder how to keep the Sabbath as a Christian. What principles guide our Sabbath celebration?

One of the distinctive biblical beliefs of the Church of God, a Worldwide Association, which sponsors this website, is that we follow the example of Jesus Christ and the early New Testament Church in celebrating the seventh - day Sabbath.

The book of Genesis reveals that after the creation week, "God ended HIS work which HE had done, and HE rested on the seventh day from all HIS work which HE had done" (Genesis 2:2). Verse 3 then records an important fact about the seventh day that has implications for all: "Then God blessed the seventh day and sanctified it." The Creator of all things actually blessed and sanctified — set apart for a special purpose — the seventh day of the week.

Because of this distinct blessing and sanctification, the seventh day of the week is very special to God.

When God gave the 10 Commandments to Moses — HIS Holy law that is permanently binding on HIS people (Matthew 5:18) — HE specifically included the seventh-day Sabbath as the Fourth Commandment (Exodus 20:8 - 11). God did not create the Sabbath to be a burdensome law.

Jesus said the Sabbath was created as a gift from God (Mark 2:27). He and the apostles and New Testament Church continued celebrating the seventh - day Sabbath.

Once a Christian accepts that the seventh - day Sabbath is Holy and a law of God, the question arises — how does a person properly keep the Sabbath command? The Bible provides Christians many principles on how to keep the Sabbath.

Looking for the church behind Life, Hope & Truth? See our "Who We Are" page.

Four principles about how to keep the Sabbath

We keep the Sabbath by abstaining from work. The seventh-day Sabbath was the day God rested from HIS labors. God is Spirit and cannot get tired or worn out. The reason HE rested was to set an example for us. The Sabbath command in Exodus 20:10 specifically states: "The seventh day is the Sabbath of the LORD your God. In it you shall do no work."

The Sabbath is a day when we pause from our normal labors and activities and rest for 24 hours on the seventh day of the week (from sunset Friday to sunset Saturday as the Bible counts time). Abstaining from work every Sabbath has tremendous physical and spiritual blessings for God's people.

We keep the Sabbath by not employing others to work for us. The Fourth Commandment has specific implications for those who employ others to work for them (e.g. business owners). Not only are Sabbath-keepers to abstain from work, but also those who are employed by them and under their direct control.

The Sabbath command states that no work is to be done by “you, nor your son, nor your daughter, nor your male servant, nor your female servant, nor your cattle, nor the stranger who is within your gates” (Exodus 20:10). Though this was written to an agrarian society that practiced a certain form of indentured servitude, the principle that applies today is that employers should not have their employee's work. Businesses owned by Sabbath - keepers should be closed on the Sabbath day.

3. We keep the Sabbath by attending Sabbath services. God did not just create the Sabbath so that HIS people could stay home and rest throughout the entire day. In order to bring HIS people together for fellowship and collective instruction and worship, God designed the seventh day as a day of convocation.

Throughout HIS life on earth, Jesus Christ assembled with others on the Sabbath (Luke 4:16).

God's people are specifically warned to not neglect “the assembling of ourselves together” (Hebrews 10:25). In Leviticus 23, the Sabbath is referred to as one of God's “Holy convocations” (verse 2). A convocation is a public meeting where God's people assemble together for the purpose of learning, worship and fellowship. Throughout HIS life on earth, Jesus Christ assembled with others on the Sabbath (Luke 4:16).

God's people are specifically warned to not neglect “the assembling of ourselves together” (Hebrews 10:25).

Every Sabbath, the Church of God, a Worldwide Association, holds Sabbath services in cities around the world where members regularly assemble to hear Biblically based sermon messages, sing hymns of worship to God and fellowship with brethren of like mind.

We keep the Sabbath by enjoying a spiritually fulfilling Sabbath. On the Sabbath, we are to pause from our normal routines — our work, shopping, errands, activities, sports, television — and spend the day doing things that are spiritually focused. God created the Sabbath to be a spiritually refreshing and enjoyable experience for HIS people. Jesus Christ proclaimed that “the Sabbath was made for man” (Mark 2:27). Jesus, as “Lord of the Sabbath” (verse 28), reveals that the Sabbath was created for the benefit of human beings.

God wants us to take every seventh day and dedicate it to doing the things that strengthen our relationship with HIM. God wants us to “call the Sabbath a delight” (Isaiah 58:13). Some things we can do on the Sabbath (in addition to attending Sabbath services) to make the Sabbath a delight and strengthen our relationship with God are: use the Sabbath for extra prayer and meditation, spend more time than usual studying the Bible, spend quality time with family, spend time fellowshiping with other Christians, visit the sick or elderly and even enjoy some relaxing time in God’s creation. These are just a few examples of appropriate things Christians can do to have a spiritually fulfilling Sabbath.

This brief answer covered four basic Biblical principles of how to keep the Sabbath as a Christian. This subject may raise other questions about what is and isn’t appropriate to do on the Sabbath day. If you would like further guidance on how to properly observe the Sabbath, feel free to contact us.

Sabbath Day

An article by our founder, Theodore H. Epp, investigates this volatile issue in the Church today:

The Sabbath or the Lord's Day - Which?

Some religious groups teach that it is necessary to keep the Sabbath in order to be saved. They insist that we are still under the Law. Yet, for reasons not divulged, they assume the right to remove some of the restrictions laid down in the Bible with regard to keeping the Sabbath as a day of rest.

So, while they contend that the keeping of the day is incumbent on the Christian, they change the nature of it by their own authority. This all adds to the confusion surrounding this annoying problem, for which the only satisfactory solution is found in the Bible.

The first reference to the Sabbath is found in Genesis 2:3: "Then God blessed the seventh day and sanctified it, because in it HE rested from all HIS work which God had created and made." The root meaning of the words "Sabbath" and "rest," as referred to in Genesis, is "to cease." After having spent six days in HIS creative work, God ceased from HIS labors. The words "evening" and "morning," however, are missing in the description of this Sabbath day. This would indicate that the first Sabbath was a continuous rest, or a continuous ceasing from labor, until the time when man fell into sin. Then God once again began HIS labors in creating new creatures in Christ Jesus.

It cannot be overemphasized, however, that this was God's rest. No obligation on man's part to keep the Sabbath is even implied in this passage.

2500 Years of Silence

After this first mention of the Sabbath, there is silence for 2500 years; not a word is given concerning it. God instituted the covenant of the Law 430 years after HE had made the covenant of grace with Abraham.

The first mention of the Sabbath since the time when God ceased from HIS labors on the seventh day is found in Exodus 16:23: "Then he said to them, 'This is what the LORD has said: 'Tomorrow is a Sabbath rest, a Holy Sabbath to the LORD. Bake what you will bake today, and boil what you will boil; and lay up for yourselves all that remains, to be kept until morning.'"

Reference is also made to this in Nehemiah: "You came down also on Mount Sinai, and spoke with them from heaven, and gave them just ordinances and true laws, good statutes and commandments. You made known to them YOUR Holy Sabbath, and commanded them precepts, statutes and laws, by the hand of Moses Your servant" (9:13 - 14).

In Exodus 20:8 - 11 the Sabbath law is made a part of the Ten Commandments: "Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it Holy. Six days you shall labor and do all your work, but the seventh day is the Sabbath of the LORD your God.

In it you shall do no work: you, nor your son, nor your daughter, nor your manservant, nor your maidservant, nor your cattle, nor your stranger who is within your gates. For in six days the LORD made the heavens and the earth, the sea, and all that is in them, and rested the seventh day. Therefore, the LORD blessed the Sabbath day and hallowed it."

Curiosity Aroused

Why did God not mention the Sabbath during those 2500 years?

The answer is evident when the purpose for which the Sabbath was given is realized. Exodus 31:13 - 17 must be carefully considered: "Speak also to the children of Israel, saying: 'Surely MY Sabbaths you shall keep, for it is a sign between ME and you throughout your generations, that you may know that I am the LORD who sanctifies you.

You shall keep the Sabbath, therefore, for it is Holy to you. Everyone who profanes it shall surely be put to death; for whoever does any work on it, that person shall be cut off from among HIS people. Work shall be done for six days, but the seventh is the Sabbath of rest, Holy to the LORD. Whoever does any work on the Sabbath day, he shall surely be put to death.

Therefore, the children of Israel shall keep the Sabbath, to observe the Sabbath throughout their generations as a perpetual covenant. It is a sign between ME and the children of Israel forever; for in six days the LORD made the heavens and the earth, and on the seventh day HE rested and was refreshed."

Ezekial 20:12 says, "Moreover I also gave them MY Sabbaths, to be a sign between them and ME, that they might know that I am the LORD who sanctifies them." The Sabbath was especially instituted as a sign of separation for Israel. Any person of Israel not keeping the Sabbath was to be cut off from his people.

Since it was instituted as a special sign for Israel, it could be enforced only as long as Israel was in the land of Palestine as a nation and was on proper terms with God. According to the foreknowledge of God, the Israelites were to be scattered soon after the crucifixion of Christ, and the Book of Galatians teaches that the Law was given by Moses until Christ died: "What purpose then does the law serve?"

It was added because of transgressions, till the Seed should come to whom the promise was made; and it was appointed through Angels by the hand of a mediator" (3:19). Even though Israel is back in the land now, she has not recognized her God; consequently, the sign-the Sabbath - is not yet enforced.

Christ and the Sabbath

Did Christ keep the Sabbath? Certainly, HE did. Some Scripture passages will show why Jesus kept the Sabbath on earth.

In the first place, John 1:11 says that "HE came to HIS own" - that is, the Jews. HE came for HIS own - the Jews. HE was made under the Law and was part of the nation of Israel.

The Law was not yet set aside. Galatians 4:4 tells that HE came to HIS own: "But when the fullness of the time had come, God sent forth HIS Son, born of a woman, born under the law."

Jesus, being a Jew and living in the time when the Law was still in force, had to keep the Law, too, including the law of the Sabbath. HE did not come to destroy the Law but to fulfill it: "Do not think that I came to destroy the Law or the Prophets. I did not come to destroy but to fulfill. For assuredly, I say to you, till heaven and earth pass away, one jot or one tittle will by no means pass from the law till all is fulfilled" (Matthew 5:17 - 18).

As far as any human being is concerned, Christ is the only One who ever kept the Law perfectly. This proves HIS sinlessness.

The four Gospels, which record the history of Christ's life on earth, mention the Sabbath at least 50 times.

It was observed by all Jews because until the crucifixion, the disciples, as well as Christ, were still under the Law. Not until HE cried, "It is finished" (John 19:30) was the Law completely fulfilled. But notice - and this is very important - Christ is not spoken of once as keeping the Sabbath after the crucifixion. Instead, HE left us the example of the Lord's Day.

Paul and the Sabbath

What about Paul? He observed the Sabbath with the Jews until he turned completely to reaching the Gentiles. In Acts 18:4 - 6 Paul cleared himself of his responsibility toward his people, the Jews, and turned to the Gentiles: "And he reasoned in the synagogue every Sabbath, and persuaded both Jews and Greeks. When Silas and Timothy had come from Macedonia, Paul was constrained by the Spirit, and testified to the Jews that Jesus is the Christ. But when they opposed him and blasphemed, he shook his garments and said to them, 'Your blood be upon your own heads; I am clean. From now on I will go to the Gentiles.'"

Before chapter 18 the Sabbath is mentioned eight times in the Book of the Acts. The reason for this is that Paul visited the Jew first and, of course, that was most easily done on the Sabbath, for the Jews kept the Sabbath. But when he met with the Church, he always did this on the first day of the week. After Acts 18 the Sabbath is not mentioned once in the Scriptures, with the exception of Colossians 2:16: "Therefore let no one judge you in food or in drink, or regarding a festival or a new moon or sabbaths." Here it is merely mentioned, showing that it has been abolished in view of the Dispensation of Grace.

It is also noted that the other apostles observed the Sabbath together with the Jews, but they did this only when they went to the places where the Jews were.

After Acts 18 we do not find another mention of the Sabbath in all of Scripture, with the one exception mentioned above. Although the apostles met with the Jews on the Sabbath day to be as Paul said, "I have become all things to all men, that I might by all means save some" (1 Corinthians 9:22), when they met with Christians, or the Church, they met on the first day of the week (Luke 24:1; John 20:19; Acts 20:7; 1 Corinthians 16:2; Revelation 1:10)."

From the above statements it can be clearly seen that the apostles, including Paul, understood very well the place and purpose of the Sabbath.

It was a sign for the Jews, beginning with Moses and ending with the crucifixion of Christ. It is interesting to note that once the Jews are regathered and recognize God as their King, the Sabbath will be observed again (Ezekiel 36:16 - 38). Isaiah 56:2 - 3 also speaks of this time: "Blessed is the man who does this, and the son of man who lays hold on it; who keeps from defiling the Sabbath and keeps his hand from doing any evil. Do not let the son of the foreigner who has joined himself to the LORD speak, saying, 'The LORD has utterly separated me from HIS people'; nor let the eunuch say, 'Here I am, a dry tree.'"

Since the members of HIS Body, the Church, are considered by HIM to be neither Jew nor Gentile, the Sabbath is not for their observance. They are new creatures in Christ Jesus: "For HE Himself is our peace, who has made both one, and has broken down the middle wall of division between us, having abolished in HIS flesh the enmity, that is, the law of commandments contained in ordinances, so as to create in Himself one new man from the two, thus making peace." (Ephesians 2:14 - 15).

As we have seen, the Sabbath in God's plan concerns only Israel. Note these truths: (1) the Sabbath law was given in Exodus 16 - 2500 years after creation; (2) it was given as a sign to Israel (Exodus 31:12 - 1); (3) since Israel is scattered, the Sabbath is not now observed; the Law was finished, according to Galatians 3:19, in Christ; (4) when the Jews are reestablished as God's earthly nation, the Sabbath will again be observed. Could there be a simpler explanation than this?

Special Restrictions of the Sabbath Law

There are certain facets of the Sabbath law that must be considered. First, a man was not allowed to leave his home. "See! For the LORD has given you the Sabbath; therefore, HE gives you on the sixth day bread for two days. Let every man remain in his place; let no man go out of his place on the seventh day" (Exodus 16:29).

Second, a man was not even allowed to work or to build a fire: "Then Moses gathered all the congregation of the children of Israel together, and said to them, 'These are the words which the LORD has commanded you to do: Work shall be done for six days, but the seventh day shall be a Holy day for you, a Sabbath of rest to the LORD. Whoever does any work on it shall be put to death. You shall kindle no fire throughout your habitations on the Sabbath day" (35:1 - 3).

"Now while the children of Israel were in the wilderness, they found a man gathering sticks on the Sabbath day. And those who found him gathering sticks brought him to Moses and Aaron, and to all the congregation. They put him under guard, because it had not been explained what should be done to him. Then the LORD said to Moses, 'The man must surely be put to death; all the congregation shall stone him with stones outside the camp.' So, as the LORD commanded Moses, all the congregation brought him outside the camp and stoned him with stones, and he died" (Numbers 15:32 - 36).

Since God gave the commandment of the Sabbath to Israel in the land of Palestine, which has a warm climate, it was very practical. The law which prohibited building a fire on the Sabbath would not be practical for people living in certain climates, because they could not very easily go without heat in the winter.

But far more crucial is the fact that those who attempt to keep God's Sabbath, which was meant for Israel, immediately place themselves under the curse of the Law. Galatians 3:10 makes this clear:

"For as many as are of the works of the law are under the curse; for it is written, 'Cursed is everyone who does not continue in all things which are written in the book of the law, to do them.'"

James 2:10 states, "For whoever shall keep the whole law, and yet stumble in one point, he is guilty of all." If a person fails to keep all of the Law, he is under that curse. Anyone in this category would do well to admit his sinfulness and to come under God's grace, for that is his only hope.

The keeping of the Law is an impossibility to man in the flesh; no one can be justified before God through it. "Is the law then against the promises of God? Certainly not! For if there had been a law given which could have given life, truly righteousness would have been by the law" (Galatians 3:21). Only God's grace can save us (Ephesians 2:8 – 9).

Salvation is not the reward for a Holy life but the gift of God to a sinner deserving judgment.

The Law was given to show the exceeding sinfulness of sin (Romans 3:20; 7:1). To confess that salvation by Law is unattainable by man humbles him but exalts the holiness of the Law. On the other hand, to claim salvation by Law-keeping exalts man but lowers the righteousness of the Law.

God has provided only one way of salvation: "Nor is there salvation in any other, for there is no other name under heaven given among men by which we must be saved" (Acts 4:12).

The So - Called Christian Sabbath

This naturally brings up another question: Which day, then, is the Sabbath? Saturday, of course. There is no such thing as a "Christian Sabbath." No one has a right to call the Lord's Day the Christian Sabbath. Too many fellow believers are unconsciously and ignorantly referring to it in this way, and for this reason there is much confusion.

What day, then, should Christians set aside? There is no commandment given to Christians in this area. Every day of the week belongs to God. The idea of worshiping God one day in seven, whether it be the first or the seventh, and then living for self the rest of the week is a grievous evil existing today. People often think that they can go to Church one day of the week, pray and sing a few hymns piously, and then live for the Devil the rest of the time. Every day is the Lord's, and Christians owe HIM their worship and devotion as much on Monday as on Saturday or Sunday.

The Christian's Day of Worship

Is there a day which believers should set aside to worship the Lord? There is one day - the first day of the week.

That is the day on which Jesus rose from the dead, and it is also the day HE chose to meet with HIS disciples after HIS resurrection. This was not a Sabbath day, or a rest day, it was a day of ceaseless activity.

The Lord Jesus was very busy on the resurrection day. The false conception of so many is that Sunday is the Christian Sabbath, and since the Sabbath is a day of rest, the Sabbath laws are applied to Sunday. This has resulted in untold harm.

The average Christian, instead of making the Lord's Day one of service, has made it one of rest and feasting. That is not the purpose of the Lord's Day. That is merely a perversion of the Jewish Sabbath day. Christians need to wake up and to grasp the meaning of this resurrection day.

Souls need to be rescued from darkness, and only the gospel of Jesus Christ can accomplish this. "Therefore, to him who knows to do good and does not do it, to him it is sin" (James 4:17).

One might say, "But I don't dare mention that in my Church; it would only stir up a lot of trouble." That is true. It is hard to stand against traditions, but I challenge each believer to yield himself to the Lord in this matter.

Thus, by the example of Christ Himself and later by the apostles, we see that the first day of the week, known as the Lord's Day, was especially set apart as a day of service for God.

Some seem to think that it is worse for one to sin on Sunday than on any other day of the week. I believe that this is wrong. The Bible teaches that it is displeasing to God for one to yield to the Devil on any day of the week.

Christians must live so that their consciences will be void of offense before God every day. In addition, they can make Sunday a day of special worship and service.

Matthew 13:12 - 13 => "For to him who has will more be given," HE told them, "and he will have great plenty; but from him who has not, even the little he has will be taken away. That is why I use these illustrations, so people will hear and see but not understand.

Matthew 25:29 => For the man who uses well what he is given - shall be given more, and he shall have abundance. But from the man who is unfaithful, even what little responsibility he has shall be taken from him.

Mark 12:43 - 44 => HE called HIS disciples to HIM and remarked, “That poor widow has given more than all those rich men put together! For they gave a little of their extra fat, while she gave up her last penny.”

Remember the Sabbath Day

Special days are nothing new. Not by any means, when one considers the need most of us have to celebrate and commemorate — yes, and even to vegetate!

We love to celebrate our children’s birthdays and those of our friends and loved ones. What would childhood be without balloons, candles and plenty of gifts to unwrap?

We also commemorate heroic people, events and happenings. So many have done so much to ensure the safety and well-being of our nation. Many have paid the ultimate sacrifice and have laid down their lives with gallantry. We honor them and miss them, so we set aside days to enter into a spirit of national pride and thanksgiving in a gesture of united patriotism.

And where would we be were it not for the men and women who have forged new pathways of hope for future generations?

Men like Martin Luther King Jr., who defied great resistance because he had a dream that all people are equal in the eyes of God. Little wonder our nation consecrated a day in his honor – a day to remember. A day to give thanks. A day to listen and learn. A day, perhaps, to refocus, reanalyze and rejuvenate what ought to be.

God told us to “Remember the Sabbath day” (Exodus 20:8), not because HE needed a break from the work of creation but, rather, because HE had us in mind. I think HE wanted us to know that our worship of HIM is not a suggestion. God created us to be unique and purposeful. And the issue of worship lay at the heart of HIS divine purpose for us.

This commandment brings God, Jesus, Moses and man into focus. God occupies our prime consideration because HE did what only HE could do in the very act of creation. The Book of Genesis rolls out God's sequence of creation and provides the first clue concerning HIS divine order. God is the God of order. And out of this order comes the need for people to stop and consider all that HE has done. This "consideration" is the very act of worship itself. And just as the Lord Jesus led us in every way through HIS example on Earth, so the Father leads us by stipulating a definite time and day to stop and worship HIM.

God's command to keep the Sabbath was not in any way meant to suggest that worship should be relegated to one day a week. Every day is God's day. Every minute is God's minute, because there is never a moment when God is not fully engaged in the lives of those for whom Christ died.

But as God looked on the people Moses was leading, HE knew them intimately. After all, HE had created them in intricate detail.

HE had "woven" them and "knit" them together – each individual, one stitch at a time. And HE knows the heart of man. Moses was simply the mediator between God and HIS creation – and God knew full well that people could never live up to this commandment to keep the Sabbath Holy.

And so, when Jesus Christ came to Earth, HE came not to replace this law, but rather to fulfill it. Moses does not run the believer's life. If he did, then the believer would be subject to the legal interpretation of the law and would, in fact, fail to meet God's standards and would sin in HIS sight.

Jesus is the ONE to whom we must look for a clear understanding of this commandment. If Jesus came to fulfill the law, consider what HE did. On Thursday, HE went to the garden of HIS betrayal. In complete obedience to the Father, Jesus drank the cup of HIS suffering and went to the cross – thereby taking on Himself the sin of the world. On Friday, HE hung on the cross. Satan must have been "licking his chops" with satisfaction at the thought of having killed the Messiah. On Saturday, Jesus lay in the grave.

But on Sunday, everything came to life. The stone was rolled away and our Savior stepped forth in majestic glory, having been raised from the dead by the power of God. That same day, believers came to the tomb with the intention of anointing HIS body with spices. On that day they saw the empty tomb and heard Jesus speak. On that day Jesus presented Himself to them. On that day they ran and shared the Good News with others.

On that day they brought their friends to see this for themselves. On that day Jesus appeared to HIS friends on the road to Emmaus. On that day HE talked with them and walked with them.

On that day their eyes were opened and they knew that HE was “the way, the truth, and the life.” On that day they cooked food and ate with HIM. On that day HE taught them, and they went on their way rejoicing because they had been in the presence of the Lord Jesus Christ and had worshiped HIM.

What a day! A day of worship. A day of remembrance. A day of witness. A day of giving. A day of identification. A day of instruction and learning. A day of rejoicing. Jesus showed us what to do about this special day. HE showed us what to expect and how to act.

There are varying viewpoints regarding specifically when the Sabbath should be observed. Messianic Jews and some other believers observe the traditional Jewish “Shabbat” – sundown Friday to sundown Saturday. A majority of evangelicals regard Sunday as “the Lord’s Day,” on which Churches hold their primary worship services, in keeping with the day of Jesus’ resurrection. And others believe the point is to set aside one day per week – any day – to rest and focus on the Lord.

We must be careful about this special day. Yes, indeed, every day with Jesus is sweeter than the day before. Every day is cause for worship, just as every day is another opportunity for someone to place their faith and trust in Jesus Christ and be saved.

Here’s the bottom line. God took time out from HIS labor and HE told us to do the same thing. HE also instructed us to “keep this day holy.” Perhaps some serious reflection is in order.

Why keep the Sabbath day?

Why keep the Sabbath day?

Questions? - Our Newsletter

Why should Christians keep God's Sabbath day of rest and worship? Should we honor our Creator on a Saturday or a Sunday?

The seventh day Sabbath was set aside for all mankind at Creation. After making the entire universe, God created this time of worship by his own example of resting! HE personally blessed it by giving it his undivided attention. The Sabbath is so important that it is the only day in the Bible given a name (and not merely referred to by a number).

And God blessed the seventh day and sanctified it because on it HE rested from all HIS work which God had created and made . . . but on the seventh day, the Sabbath, in it there shall be none. (Genesis 2:3, Exodus 16:26, HBFV throughout)

The Sabbath or fourth Commandment, embedded at the heart of the Decalogue, specifies an exact period of time God commands humans to rest. The Ten Commandments were so important to God that he used his own finger to write them on tables of stone for the children of Israel!

Jesus kept it.

Our Savior led a sinless life so that he could become the perfect sacrifice for our sins. HE obeyed his Father in all things and kept all of HIS commandments. Jesus' custom throughout HIS life and ministry was to keep Holy the Biblical period of rest (Luke 4:16). In fact, HE not only kept it but also claimed he created it (Mark 2:28)!

The early Church and Paul kept it

The apostles faithfully observed the seventh day Sabbath rest from sunset Friday to sunset Saturday (see our article entitled, "Why Church on SUNDAY?" for more information). Rather than abandon the fourth commandment as some 'burden' believers no longer had to follow, the early Church, especially the apostle Paul, regularly kept and preached on a Saturday Sabbath (Acts 13:14, see also 16:13 and 18:4).

Time is not lost

The integrity of the seven - day cycle has been preserved since the Eternal created the first week (Genesis 1 - 2).

Regardless of the name given them in various cultures and languages over time, what we call Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday have remained in that order throughout history. This means that the seventh day Sabbath God made Holy at creation and confirmed in HIS commandments corresponds to our Saturday.

Adopted for non-Biblical reasons

The change from a Saturday to Sunday Sabbath did not come out of the Bible but was a post-apostolic tradition adopted by the church! The change was based entirely on the Roman Catholic Church's belief it had the authority, directly from God, to change the day of worship. There are at least two major factors which led the Christian Church to reject keeping the fourth commandment or Sabbath on Saturday and move toward worshipping God on Sunday.

"The first, anti - Judaism, which appears to have caused a widespread devaluation and repudiation of the Sabbath, thereby creating the exigency of a new day of worship. The second, the development of Sun - cults with the consequent enhancement of the day of the Sun over that of Saturn . . ." (Samuele Bacchiocchi, From Sabbath to Sunday, 1980, page 269)

"It appears that because of the exigency which arose to separate from the Jews and their Sabbath, Gentile Christians adopted the venerable day of the Sun (Sunday), since it provided an adequate time and symbolism to commemorate significant divine events . . . such as the creation of light and the resurrection of the Sun of Justice." (ibid, page 301)

It behooves those who consider themselves Christians to study the Sabbath in the Bible and examine the facts regarding Christianity's overwhelming acceptance of worshipping God on the day of the Sun (Sunday). In the end, it will all boil down to one simple question. Do you wish to keep the traditions of men or the words of God?

How families can keep the Sabbath when the world interferes

Keeping the Sabbath isn't optional, at least not in God's book. But observing the day of rest prescribed in the 10 Commandments can be difficult for busy families. Families who keep the Sabbath share their tips.

Keeping the Sabbath isn't optional, at least not in God's book. But observing the day of rest prescribed in the 10 Commandments can be more difficult for busy families than honoring their parents or not swearing.

"The fact is, everybody's having trouble with this right now. There are surprisingly few people who are doing it," said Dr. Matthew Sleeth, the author of "24 / 6: A Prescription for a Healthier and Happier Life" and a proponent of rigorous Sabbath keeping.

In a recent Deseret News survey, just 38 percent of respondents said they "strongly agreed" that it's important for society to have a day of spiritual rest, and only half said the Sabbath has personal spiritual meaning, compared to 74 percent in a 1978 Gallup poll.

Moreover, people were more likely to go shopping (30 percent) than to a religious service (27 percent) on the Sabbath of their religious tradition, the survey said. The poll of 1,000 adults nationwide, which also had an over sample of 250 Mormons and 250 Jews, was designed by Y2 Analytics and fielded by YouGov for the Deseret News.

To Sleeth, who left emergency medicine in order to start a nonprofit organization that teaches Christian stewardship, the Sabbath was a "cultural treasure" that was stolen from our generation. "We decided we were going to give it up and see how it goes. I don't think it's going very well," he said.

Sleeth and his staff at Blessed Earth ministries, headquartered in Lexington, Kentucky, now speak to people across the country about reclaiming the Sabbath. "It's not easy, but once you get it, and get it right, it's the most joyful thing ever," he said.

This is because to function optimally, human beings need rest, and with the onslaught of technology and 24 - 7 availability, the five - day workweek is becoming a myth. Whether we believe the Sabbath is a commandment from God or a recommendation, whether we mark it on Saturday, Sunday or Wednesday, the Bible deems the day Holy, and the intent was clear: It is a day on which no work is to be done.

When we honor the commandment, we are happier and healthier; our blood pressure falls, as well as our levels of stress hormones like cortisol. Studies about the "Type A city" have shown that a persistent fast pace of life contributes to coronary artery disease.

We even eat less when we slow down. We're likely to catch fewer colds. And when we do return to work, we'll be more focused and productive.

And keeping the Sabbath makes us Holier, Sleeth said. "When we keep it, all the 10 Commandments come to pass," he said, because relationships are strengthened when we make time for them.

Sleeth goes so far as to say the Sabbath is "irrefutable proof" that God is real. "It is so sublime that no person — much less a committee — could have invented it," Sleeth writes in "24/6, A Prescription for a Healthier, Happier Life," his 2012 book that promotes Sabbath keeping.

Other people who observe the Sabbath agree that the practice has profoundly affected their family life.

Steve Gajdosik, a father of seven in Spartanburg, South Carolina, is a Catholic who doesn't allow his children to play organized sports on Sunday, because that is their family's Sabbath.

"We go to Mass together in the morning, we eat together, we recreate together. We might watch a ball game if the Panthers are playing and it's the Super Bowl, but generally, we don't do anything other than the basic chores we have to do. And we don't shop," Gajdosik said.

The day is important, Gajdosik said, because as with all moral laws, it's ultimately good for us. "You look at society, and the family is disintegrating, and one reason is that we don't spend enough time together," he said.

A 'deeply meaningful' practice

In Pittsburgh, writer Abby Schachter marks the traditional Jewish Sabbath, 25 hours from sundown Friday to sundown Saturday, with her husband and four children, ages 2 through 8.

"They aren't yet at the place where their peers are asking them why they can't do X, Y or Z," Schachter said. But by the time they are, the rituals will be ingrained, she said.

"The idea of the Sabbath for Jews is to separate, literally, one day from the rest of the week.

You're supposed to be engaging in very different activities: eating and socializing and enjoying a little bit more quiet and downtime and prayer," said Schachter, author of the forthcoming book "No Child Left Alone."

"When we first started observing a ritual Friday - night dinner, lighting candles and saying the blessings over bread and wine, it felt a lot like play acting. It's not something that comes naturally.

"The value comes in repeating the process over and over. It is deeply meaningful now because it is embedded in our family's life now. It reinforces that our family is a unit, and this is how we operate.

And it's a lot easier to do it when it's attached to something larger than yourself," she said. "We are doing this, not only with living Jewish people, but also every Jewish person who has ever lived."

For people in the ministry, keeping the Sabbath presents a particular challenge, since they have to work so others can observe the day.

The Rev. Keith Anderson, a Lutheran pastor near Philadelphia, takes Saturday off and also, reserves Sunday afternoon to be with his wife and four children. "It's a challenge, but we recognize that we all have a saturation point; neither we nor the kids can keep it going 24 / 7," Anderson said.

The family also tries to take "Sabbath moments" all through the week, using the time to unplug and focus on each other.

Sleeth recommends something similar for people who see the value of the Sabbath observance, but struggle to make it happen in their lives.

"If you can't fathom 24 hours without work, pick out four hours: say, Sunday morning between 8 and noon. Close the computer, turn the phone off; the world will still spin if you disconnect for four hours," Sleeth said. "What we've found is that when people get a taste of it, they'll expand it."

Ways to start.

Blessed Earth teaches Sabbath keeping at Churches and conferences of all denominations across the country; he's even advocated it to a medical group, on grounds that it would improve the quality of life for physicians.

When Sleeth met with a group of United Methodist ministers in North Carolina, he found that only 9 percent of them kept the Sabbath regularly. After learning more about the importance of observing the Sabbath, within two years, 35 percent of them did.

It's as if learning the benefits gives them permission to take a day off, even though it may be a struggle at first.

"If you work on this, it gets better, but you have to be intentional about this," Sleeth said. Preparation is essential, he said. In his own household, Sleeth and his wife prepare by cleaning and shopping in advance.

Schachter, the writer who attends a conservative synagogue in Pittsburgh, also said that the rewards of keeping Sabbath grow over time, and people should give themselves time to embrace the tradition.

"The first time you do anything, it's not going to feel natural, so make plans to do it at least three or four times. You can't create a habit the first time," she said.

Sleeth quips that, in the Bible, only one being was busy: satan, who in the Book of Job told God he was "going to and fro on the earth and walking up and down on it."

For people who are similarly busy going to and fro, writing out a "Sabbath plan" may help. Blessed Earth offers a worksheet that encourages people to think about potential temptations, activities that renew your spirit and people with whom you can share your journey.

And if it's still a struggle, forgive yourself. Sleeth said a Catholic archbishop recently told him how hard he finds it to observe the Sabbath.

A planned treat may help. In ancient times, Jewish children were given a teaspoon of honey at the start of the Sabbath, so they would know they were about to experience something sweet. For Sleeth and his wife, their strictly enforced Sabbath includes spending time with their grown children, reading books and taking a walk. "And I sometimes start the day with ice cream — why not?"

But be prepared for resistance from a world that would rather shop than go to Church or reflect on the spiritual aspects of life. "Keeping a Sabbath is the most countercultural thing you can do. Not getting your hair dyed purple — a zillion other people are going to do that today," Sleeth said.

5 Ways To Keep The Sabbath Day Holy

**This is an answer to a question found on eBible.com. To add your voice to the conversation, sign up for a free account today! Click here to learn more!

The fourth of the ten commandments is: "Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it Holy" (Exodus 20:8, ESV), but what does that really mean in our lives today?

We know that God created the heavens and the earth in six days and rested on the seventh. We know that HE blessed the Sabbath day and told us to dedicate this day to the Lord our God. What's not always clear is exactly how we Christians can carry out the will of our Lord.

It's okay (even encouraged) to prayerfully meditate on this issue and listen as God reveals his intentions to each of us. In the meantime, here are some ideas to consider while keeping the Sabbath Holy:

SPEND TIME TOGETHER AS A FAMILY

Keeping of the Sabbath was a sign of the covenant between Israel and the Lord: “You must observe my Sabbaths.

This will be a sign between me and you for the generations to come” (Exodus 31:13). As Israel kept the Sabbath set apart, they were reminded that they were also being set apart: “So you may know that I am the LORD, who makes you Holy” (verse 13). Believers today, being under the New Covenant, are not bound to keep the sign of the Old Covenant. It’s a great idea, however, to use the Sabbath as day to join together as a family both in times of prayer and in times of rest.

GO TO CHURCH!

God instructed us to keep the Sabbath Holy. This phrase in English is only one word in Hebrew. It means “consecrate,” “set apart,” or “sanctify.” The Israelites were to make a distinction between the seventh day and the rest of the week. The Sabbath was different. It was to be dedicated to the Lord. The priests were to double the daily sacrifices on the Sabbath (Numbers 28:9 - 10), marking the day with increased sacred activity. The rest of the Israelites were to mark the day with decreased activity - no work at all-in honor of the Lord. Today, going to Church and joining together in worship and prayer helps us to honor this intention of the Sabbath day.

TURN OFF YOUR DEVICES

The word Sabbath comes from a Hebrew word meaning “day of rest.” The Bible specifies that this day of rest is the seventh day of the week, what we would call “Saturday,” or in the Israelite mindset, sundown on Friday until sundown on Saturday. God set the pattern for the Sabbath rest in Genesis 2:2, ceasing from HIS work of creation on the seventh day. God’s action (or, rather, HIS inaction) in Genesis 2 foreshadowed the Law’s command in Exodus 20:8. Resting meant abstaining from worldly work as well as removing ourselves from focusing on the world so that we can instead refocus more on the Lord. Turning off our devices can help tune out the noise and clutter that could keep us from turning our eyes toward our God.

SHARE YOUR BLESSINGS WITH OTHERS

According to the Bible, every Christian has been given at least one spiritual gift to use in service to the body of Christ.

“Each of you should use whatever gift you have received to serve others, as faithful stewards of God’s grace in its various forms. If anyone speaks, they should do so as one who speaks the very words of God. If anyone serves, they should do so with the strength God provides, so that in all things God may be praised through Jesus Christ. To him be the glory and the power for ever and ever. Amen.”

(1 Peter 4:10 - 11; compare Ephesians 4:11 - 16).

Every member of every Church should be serving in some way, and every servant of the Lord should remember that it’s more than just serving others; it’s loving them: “Serve one another humbly in love” (Galatians 5:13).

TAKE THE SERMON HOME WITH YOU

THIS IS THE ONLY COMMAND OF THE TEN THAT STARTS WITH THE WORD “REMEMBER”.

THIS COULD MEAN THAT THE SABBATH COMMAND HAD BEEN GIVEN EARLIER - IN FACT, GOD HAD DECREED A SABBATH REST IN EXODUS 16:22-30. OR THE WORD REMEMBER COULD SIMPLY MEAN “KEEP THIS COMMAND IN MIND” WITH NO REFERENCE TO AN EARLIER DIRECTIVE. REGARDLESS, THE WORD IS EMPHATIC; THE CHILDREN OF ISRAEL WERE NOT TO GROW LAX IN THEIR OBSERVATION OF THIS COMMAND.

TO REMEMBER THIS COMMANDMENT IS ALSO TO REMEMBER THE FOCUS OF THE DAY – IT’S NOT ON OURSELVES OR ON FOLLOWING THE LAW, BUT ON GLORIFYING OUR LORD AND LIVING OUT HIS DIVINE WILL. TAKE SPECIAL CARE TO LISTEN TO HIS WORD AND TO HOLD IN YOUR HEART HIS INTENTIONS AND MEANINGS FOR YOU THROUGHOUT THE DAY, THE WEEK, AND YOUR ENTIRE LIFE.

STUDENTS BREAK INTO “HALLELUJAH” IN HALLWAY — HARMONIES INSTANTLY GIVE EVERYONE CHILLS.

Students Break Into “Hallelujah” In Hallway — Harmonies Instantly Give Everyone Chills.

There are certain songs that always elicit an emotional response, and “Hallelujah” is one that never fails to give us chills whenever we hear it.

In a video uploaded to YouTube by a student named Spencer Logsdon, a high school chorus is warming up before a concert in the hallway of their school, when they start singing “Hallelujah.” Instantly everyone around them stops what they’re doing in order to listen to this beautiful song.

In spite of the fact that the group is gathered in a dingy high school hallway, we’re transfixed by the beauty of their voices and the sincerity of their performance.

These students attend Vestavia Hills High School in Vestavia Hills, Alabama. Even though there are fewer than twenty chorus members standing in a circle, when they lift their voices up in song, they sound like professional singers giving the performance of their lives.

All of the onlookers had to pull out their cameras to record this intense moment. One male student takes the lead on the song, but later a female soloist joins in and gives us absolute goosebumps!

What a fantastic group of talented singers! Watch the video below and don’t forget to share it with someone who loves this song!

You shall not commit adultery.

Why is "You shall not commit adultery" in the Ten Commandments?

---

Question: "Why is 'You shall not commit adultery' in the Ten Commandments?"

Answer: Before we can answer this question, we need to be clear on the definition of adultery. The dictionary defines "adultery" as "voluntary sexual intercourse between a married person and a person who is not his or her spouse." The Bible would concur with this definition. In Leviticus 18:20, God told Moses, "Do not have sexual relations with your neighbor's wife and defile yourself with her," and in Deuteronomy 22:22, we find a similar definition: "If a man is found sleeping with another man's wife, both the man who slept with her and the woman must die." It is clear from these definitions that adultery refers to a consensual sexual union. What is not explicitly clear is whether or not both partners in this illicit sexual union are married. The biblical commands prohibit a man from taking another man's wife, but do not indicate whether or not the man is also married. Be that as it may, it is safe to say that if a person who is married willingly seeks a sexual encounter with another person, whether or not that person is also married, both people are guilty of committing adultery.

God's reasons for instituting HIS commandment against adultery are two - fold. First, God established the institution of marriage as being between one man and one woman (Genesis 2:24; reiterated by Jesus in Matthew 19:5 and parallel passages). God created marriage to be the building block of HIS creation and of society.

Even after the fall (Genesis 3), marriage is still a sacred union and the foundation for society. In marriage, the full expression of the image of God is made manifest as the man and the woman complement and complete each other.

The Bible also teaches us that marriage is the vehicle through which God designed the procreation of the human race and the preservation of godly offspring (Genesis 1:28, 9:1; Malachi 2:15). With such a premium placed on marriage, it's no wonder God would seek to protect this union from defilement (Hebrews 13:4), and thus prohibit adultery, which is the violation of the sacred marriage union.

The second reason for the commandment is found in Leviticus 18:1 - 5. As God's chosen people, the Israelites were to reflect God's character in the Promised Land. God commanded HIS people to be Holy for HE is Holy (Leviticus 11:44), and part of Holy living is sexual purity. God did not want HIS people emulating the behavior of the Egyptians from whom HE delivered them, nor did God want HIS people copying the behavior of the people into whose land HE was bringing them. The implication was that adultery (and other sexual sins) was commonplace in the lands where the Israelites had been and were going to.

So now we know what adultery is and why God instituted this command. Finally, we need to learn what God meant by the command itself.

As with all of the Ten Commandments, there are things we need to avoid doing (the negative part of the command) and things we need to be doing (the positive part of the command).

The negative part of the command is self - explanatory: Do not commit adultery. However, there is more to this command than the simple avoidance of extramarital relationships.

One can make the argument that wrapped up in this prohibition are all sorts of sexual sin (e.g., incest, fornication, homosexuality, etc.), and that argument can be made on the basis of chapters such as Leviticus 18. Also important is avoiding things that would lead or tempt one to consider adultery, such as the unnecessary withholding of conjugal rights (1 Corinthians 7:1 - 5). Jesus, in HIS Sermon on the Mount, made further clarification of this command (Matthew 5:27 - 30) by including all kinds of lustful thoughts. Fantasizing about having sexual relations with someone is the same, in God's eyes, as actually committing adultery. Therefore, we must avoid all things that would create within us lustful thoughts (e.g., suggestive songs, sensuous movies, pornography, etc.). We should also avoid immodest clothing or anything that might cause a brother or sister in the Lord to stumble in this area (1 Timothy 2:9; 1 Peter 3:3).

The positive part of the command would entail doing the opposite of what the command prohibits: chastity in body, mind, words and action; keeping watch over what we take in with our eyes and the other senses; an attitude of temperance and self-control (i.e., moderation); being discerning over the company we keep; dressing modestly; and fulfilling our marriage vows in regard to any sexual relations and cohabitation. Regarding sexual sin, the Apostle Paul said, "Flee from sexual immorality.

Every other sin a person commits is outside the body, but the sexually immoral person sins against his own body" (1 Corinthians 6:18). When it comes to sexual sin, the best course of action is to remove ourselves from temptation and avoid such situations altogether.

Adultery is the complete corruption of God's good creation of marriage. Through the sin of adultery, satan tempts us to seek sexual fulfillment in avenues other than the one God has ordained — within the bounds of monogamous, heterosexual marriage. Adultery rips at the fabric of society because it tears apart marriages and families which are the building blocks of society. God's law in general, and the 7th commandment in particular, is held up as the standard for Christian behavior.

Seventh Commandment: You Shall Not Commit Adultery God intended the sexual relationship between a husband and wife to be an exclusive, intimate bond to strengthen the marriage relationship.

---

The creation account shows God’s wonderful intention for men and women and for the marriage bond. “And the LORD God said, ‘It is not good that man should be alone; I will make him a helper comparable to him.’ ...

“And the LORD God caused a deep sleep to fall on Adam, and he slept; and HE took one of his ribs and closed up the flesh in its place. Then the rib which the LORD God had taken from man HE made into a woman, and HE brought her to the man.

“And Adam said: ‘This is now bone of my bones and flesh of my flesh; she shall be called Woman, because she was taken out of Man.’ Therefore, a man shall leave his father and mother and be joined to his wife, and they shall become one flesh” (Genesis 2:18, 21 - 24).

So, the prohibition of extramarital sex — adultery — was designed to protect the sanctity of marriage and show the importance of faithfulness.

The spirit of the Seventh Commandment

Jesus Christ expanded on the Seventh Commandment to show the spirit of the law. HE said even looking lustfully is mental adultery: “You have heard that it was said to those of old, ‘You shall not commit adultery.’ But I say to you that whoever looks at a woman to lust for her has already committed adultery with her in his heart. If your right eye causes you to sin, pluck it out and cast it from you; for it is more profitable for you that one of your members perish, than for your whole body to be cast into hell” (Matthew 5:27 - 29).

Some people in the first century, as today, felt that natural appetites must be fulfilled. The apostle Paul described this approach and countered it in his first letter to the Corinthians.

“Foods for the stomach and the stomach for foods [this was their argument], but God will destroy both it and them.

Now the body is not for sexual immorality but for the Lord, and the Lord for the body” (1 Corinthians 6:13). Paul explained that the God who created our bodies and who wants to live in us, wants us to be pure.

Any type of sex outside of marriage is prohibited. But God provides a way out of wrong sexual lifestyles and sins through repentance and conversion. We must flee from sexual immorality: “Flee sexual immorality. Every sin that a man does is outside the body, but he who commits sexual immorality sins against his own body” (1 Corinthians 6:18).

We must not give in to sexual lust and temptation, following the example of Joseph who fled from the advances of his master's wife (Genesis 39:6 - 20).

All sex outside of marriage prohibited

Any type of sex outside of marriage is prohibited. Paul said premarital sex, adultery, homosexuality and other sins would keep a person out of the Kingdom of God: “Do you not know that the unrighteous will not inherit the kingdom of God?”

Do not be deceived. Neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor homosexuals, nor sodomites, nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners will inherit the kingdom of God” (1 Corinthians 6:9 - 10).

But God provides a way out of wrong sexual lifestyles and sins through repentance and conversion: “And such were some of you. But you were washed, but you were sanctified, but you were justified in the name of the Lord Jesus and by the Spirit of our God” (1 Corinthians 6:11). God offers to wash away our sinful past and give us a clean, pure heart.

Sex in marriage is pure and good: “Marriage is honorable among all, and the bed undefiled; but fornicators and adulterers God will judge” (Hebrews 13:4). Don't let society cheapen sex into a biological drive, an itch to be scratched or a hedonistic extreme sport. Read Solomon's warnings about the lure of immorality and its consequences compared to the joy of committed love (Proverbs 5:1 - 20).

Solomon's poetic conclusion is: “Let your fountain be blessed and rejoice with the wife of your youth. As a loving deer and a graceful doe, let her breasts satisfy you at all times; and always be enraptured with her love. For why should you, MY son, be enraptured by an immoral woman, and be embraced in the arms of a seductress?” (Proverbs 5:18-20).

Spiritual adultery

God considers adultery as unfaithfulness to the marriage covenant, and so HE uses it as a type of spiritual unfaithfulness.

Some of the most poignant descriptions of God’s love also portray the treacherous betrayal of God’s love and faithfulness by those who turn from HIM.

Ezekiel 16 is an extended analogy about God’s love for HIS people, and their spiritual adultery against HIM and the terrible consequences.

God compared Israel to an abandoned girl HE cared for and then married and cherished: “‘I swore an oath to you and entered into a covenant with you, and you became MINE,’ says the Lord GOD. ....

“‘You were exceedingly beautiful and succeeded to royalty. Your fame went out among the nations because of your beauty, for it was perfect through MY splendor which I had bestowed on you,’ says the Lord GOD. ‘But you trusted in your own beauty, played the harlot because of your fame, and poured out your harlotry on everyone passing by who would have it’” (verses 8, 13 - 15).

Such spiritual adultery in ancient times often involved literal idols (Ezekiel 23:37), but today can involve anything that comes ahead of God in our lives, whether money, possessions, hobbies, entertainment or religious beliefs and customs not taught in the Bible.

Study more about spiritual faithfulness in our articles “Fruit of the Spirit: Faithfulness” and “Called and Chosen.”

CONTINUE READING

God intended the sexual relationship between a husband and wife to be an exclusive, intimate bond to strengthen the marriage relationship.

The creation account shows God’s wonderful intention for men and women and for the marriage bond. “And the LORD God said, ‘It is not good that man should be alone; I will make him a helper comparable to him.’ ...

“And the LORD God caused a deep sleep to fall on Adam, and he slept; and HE took one of his ribs and closed up the flesh in its place. Then the rib which the LORD God had taken from man HE made into a woman, and HE brought her to the man.

“And Adam said: ‘This is now bone of my bones and flesh of my flesh; she shall be called Woman, because she was taken out of Man.’ Therefore, a man shall leave his father and mother and be joined to his wife, and they shall become one flesh” (Genesis 2:18, 21 - 24).

So, the prohibition of extramarital sex — adultery — was designed to protect the sanctity of marriage and show the importance of faithfulness.

8 Keys to Knowing God’s Will For Your Life

When I was a young man, I seemed to continually wrestle with knowing God’s will for my life. I wanted more than anything to follow HIS plan.

Interestingly, now that I’m “old” (currently 47 - years - old), I still wrestle with doing HIS will in my life. I have come to learn that this is not just something that a young person does early in life; it is a lifelong pursuit in order to stay in the exact center of HIS plan and to trust in it!

So, then, how can we know God's plan for our lives?

Over the past twenty - five years that I have been in ministry, I have discovered eight vital keys to knowing God's will and plan for your life. Here they are:

Walk with God.

For starters, if you are interested in knowing God's plan for your life, then you must learn to walk with God. You need to develop a relationship with HIM. Christianity is all about relationship rather than just religion.

And so, you must cultivate your relationship with God. You must seek to know HIM and not just seek to know about HIM.

You will cultivate that relationship best by spending time in HIS Word, taking time for prayer, and taking every opportunity you can to be involved in Church and small group Bible study opportunities. When you seek these disciplines in your life, God will begin the first steps to revealing HIS plan to you. Proverbs 3:5 - 6

<sup>5</sup>Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding; <sup>6</sup> In all your ways acknowledge HIM, and HE shall direct your paths.

Surrender your will to God's.

Many times, when we say we are seeking God's will, what we are really wanting to say to God is this: "OK, God, here's what I'm planning to do. Now I need you to rubber stamp this, all right?" I must tell you that this is not really effective in finding HIS true will.

Before God will begin to reveal HIS will to you, you must be committed to doing whatever it is that HE desires for you to do. God will likely be slow to show you HIS plan if HE knows you will likely not do that plan anyway. Romans 12:1 - 2

<sup>1</sup> I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that you present your bodies a living sacrifice, Holy, acceptable to God, which is your reasonable service. <sup>2</sup> And do not be conformed to this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind, that you may prove what is that good and acceptable and perfect will of God.

Jesus was willing to die for us, so shouldn't we be willing to live for HIM?

When we surrender to HIM, that is when HE really begins to direct our steps.

3) Obey what you already know to be God's Will.

Many people seem to want to know what God's plan is for their lives, but they overlook the fact that 98% of HIS will is already delineated carefully through HIS Word. God is very clear about many, many aspects of HIS will. For instance, it is clearly HIS plan that we abstain from sexual immorality (1 Thessalonians 4:3).

If we do not obey the things that God has shown us clearly to be HIS will, why would we think HE would reveal any further information regarding HIS plan for our lives?

Obedience is an important first step.

4) Seek Godly input.

One key component to finding God's will is to seek the input of godly advisors in your life. If you don't currently have 3 to 4 Godly (HIS true men and women) mentors, then I would highly recommend that you seek them out right away.

Think of it this way: you should understand that you are basically a composite of the five - people you spend the most time with. So, then, it is vital that you choose those three to five people well. If you choose to surround yourself with Godly advisors, they will be instrumental in helping you discern God's plan for your life. But if you surround yourself with people who are far from God (those not HIS true children), your hope of finding HIS best for your life will be greatly diminished. Proverbs 11:14

Where there is no counsel, the people fall; but in the multitude of counselors there <https://goinswriter.com/tips-writing-book/e> is safety.

The Church is designed to help you greatly with this. I would encourage you to be in Church every single time the doors are opened. The more you involve yourself with a community of believers, the greater your chances will be of finding godly men and women who can help you discern God's will.

5) Pay attention to how God has wired you.

God has created you to fulfill a specific role in this world. There is no one else who can achieve completely what God has purposely created you to do.

The Apostle Peter gives us this admonition: 1 Peter 4:10

As each one has received a gift, minister it to one another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God.

God has gifted every one of us to perform a special mission for which we alone were created. How amazing is that? Wow!

So, when you seek to discover God's will for your life, pay attention to how HE has gifted you.

HIS plan for you will always be directly related to the gifts that HE has bestowed upon you. The great news is that you will automatically be good at whatever it is that HE has called you to do!

6) Listen to God's Spirit.

I experienced a major turning point in my own prayer life when I learned simply to shut up while I was praying. That may sound odd to you, and it seemed odd to me at first.

You see, I used to do all the talking when I prayed to God. But then, several years ago, I read Bill Hybel's book, "Too Busy Not to Pray". That book completely changed the way I approached God through prayer. Since reading that book, I have added a significant component to my prayer life: listening. I take time to listen to what God might have to say to me.

Practically, the way I go about this is to bring a notepad with me when I sit down to pray. Then I write at the top of several page things like the following:

"What is the next step in my career?"

"What is the next step in my ministry?"

"What is the next step for my family?"

"What is the next step for my marriage?"

"What is the next step in my education?"

"What is the next step in my finances?"

During my prayer time, I meditate on questions such as the above. Often, God will start flooding my heart with ideas and information regarding one or more of those questions. I write as fast as I can as HE speaks to my heart. What a glorious experience that is to sense HIS Spirit on me, guiding my thoughts and words.

Through experiences like this, HE has shown me many times with great clarity what HIS will is for my life. I long for those experiences when HE speaks to me like that. Those times are truly life changing. John 10:27

My sheep hear MY voice, and I know them, and they follow ME.

<sup>27</sup>) Listen to your heart.

In addition to listening to the Spirit, I also recommend listening to your heart. To understand my point here, consider the following passage: Psalms 37:4 - 5

<sup>4</sup> Delight yourself also in the LORD, and HER shall give you the desires of your heart. <sup>5</sup> Commit your way to the LORD, trust also in HIM, and HE shall bring it to pass. (NKJV)

I love this passage, because it shows me that, when I am walking with the Lord, HE will actually let me do many really cool things that I actually love to do! When you are close to HIM, HE actually begins to shape your desires so that you desire the things that HE has already called you to do.

So then, HIS plan actually becomes a super - exciting adventure. I always have the most fun in life when I am doing God's will. And that is because HE shapes my personal "wanter" inside me to want to do the things for which HE has actually created me to be.

8) Take a look at your circumstances.

God often clearly demonstrates HIS plan for our lives by lining up circumstances in obvious ways. And HE also shows us what HIS will is NOT for us to do in that same way. It is not HIS will for you to take the job that is not offered to you. If you are 5' 6" tall and weigh 125 lbs., it is not likely that God has created you to play professional football.

Over the years, I have discovered that God is pretty good at opening and closing doors. HE even did that for the Apostle Paul and his enterouge in Acts. Take a look at this passage: Acts 16:6 - 10

<sup>6</sup> Now when they had gone through Phrygia and the region of Galatia, they were forbidden by the Holy Spirit to preach the word in Asia.

<sup>7</sup> After they had come to Mysia, they tried to go into Bithynia, but the Spirit did not permit them.

<sup>8</sup> So passing by Mysia, they came down to Troas.

<sup>9</sup> And a vision appeared to Paul in the night. A man of Macedonia stood and pleaded with him, saying, "Come over to Macedonia and help us."

<sup>10</sup> Now after he had seen the vision, immediately we sought to go to Macedonia, concluding that the Lord had called us to preach the gospel to them.

So, even Paul had to face closed doors in his ministry. God often uses closed doors to show us clearly what HE does NOT want us to do. And HE also uses open doors at times to show us what HE DOES want us to do. Of course, this does not mean that every open door is definitely God's plan, but it does help to give you some basic direction.

A Closing Thought:

The next time you begin to ponder God’s plan for your life, I would encourage you to mull over the above eight keys. Use these principles to help you to hone in on HIS plan for you. And when you seek HIS will earnestly, you will find it!

The wonderful benefit to be a New Testament Christian is that God has added a “want to” to the “have to” aspect of HIS commands. The Holy Spirit dwelling within us convicts, prompts, and inspires a desire to follow God wholeheartedly.

And so, you must cultivate your relationship with God. You must seek to know HIM and not just seek to know about HIM.

You will cultivate that relationship best by spending time in HIS Word, taking time for prayer, and taking every opportunity you can to be involved in Church and small group Bible study opportunities. When you seek these disciplines in your life, God will begin the first steps to revealing HIS plan to you. Proverbs 3:5 - 6

<sup>5</sup> Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding; <sup>6</sup> In all your ways acknowledge HIM, and HE shall direct your paths.

Surrender your will to God's.

Many times, when we say we are seeking God's will, what we are really wanting to say to God is this: "OK, God, here's what I'm planning to do. Now I need you to rubber stamp this, all right?" I must tell you that this is not really effective in finding HIS true will.

Before God will begin to reveal HIS will to you, you must be committed to doing whatever it is that HE desires for you to do. God will likely be slow to show you HIS plan if HE knows you will likely not do that plan anyway. Romans 12:1 - 2

<sup>1</sup> I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that you present your bodies a living sacrifice, Holy, acceptable to God, which is your reasonable service. <sup>2</sup> And do not be conformed to this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind, that you may prove what is that good and acceptable and perfect will of God.

Jesus was willing to die for us, so shouldn't we be willing to live for HIM?

When we surrender to HIM, that is when HE really begins to direct our steps.

3) Obey what you already know to be God's Will.

Many people seem to want to know what God's plan is for their lives, but they overlook the fact that 98% of HIS will is already delineated carefully through HIS Word. God is very clear about many, many aspects of HIS will. For instance, it is clearly HIS plan that we abstain from sexual immorality (1 Thessalonians 4:3).

If we do not obey the things that God has shown us clearly to be HIS will, why would we think HE would reveal any further information regarding HIS plan for our lives?

Obedience is an important first step.

4) Seek Godly input.

One key component to finding God's will is to seek the input of godly advisors in your life. If you don't currently have 3 to 4 Godly mentors, then I would highly recommend that you seek them out right away.

Think of it this way: you should understand that you are basically a composite of the five people you spend the most time with. So, then, it is vital that you choose those three to five people well. If you choose to surround yourself with godly advisors, they will be instrumental in helping you discern God's plan for your life. But if you surround yourself with people who are far from God, your hope of finding HIS best for your life will be greatly diminished. Proverbs 11:14

Where there is no counsel, the people fall; but in the multitude of counselors there <https://goinswriter.com/tips-writing-book/e> is safety.

The Church is designed to help you greatly with this. I would encourage you to be in Church every single time the doors are opened. The more you involve yourself with a community of believers, the greater your chances will be of finding godly men and women who can help you discern God's will.

5) Pay attention to how God has wired you.

God has created you to fulfill a specific role in this world. There is no one else who can achieve completely what God has purposely created you to do.

The Apostle Peter gives us this admonition: 1 Peter 4:10

As each one has received a gift, minister it to one another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God.

God has gifted every one of us to perform a special mission for which we alone were created. How amazing is that? Wow!

So, when you seek to discover God's will for your life, pay attention to how HE has gifted you. HIS plan for you will always be directly related to the gifts that HE has bestowed upon you. The great news is that you will automatically be good at whatever it is that HE has called you to do!

7) Listen to God's Spirit.

I experienced a major turning point in my own prayer life when I learned simply to shut up while I was praying. That may sound odd to you, and it seemed odd to me at first.

You see, I used to do all the talking when I prayed to God. But then, several years ago, I read Bill Hybel's book, "Too Busy Not to Pray". That book completely changed the way I approached God through prayer.

Since reading that book, I have added a significant component to my prayer life: listening. I take time to listen to what God might have to say to me.

Practically, the way I go about this is to bring a notepad with me when I sit down to pray. Then I write at the top of several page things like the following:

"What is the next step in my career?"

"What is the next step in my ministry?"

"What is the next step for my family?"

"What is the next step for my marriage?"

"What is the next step in my education?"

"What is the next step in my finances?"

During my prayer time, I meditate on questions such as the above. Often, God will start flooding my heart with ideas and information regarding one or more of those questions. I write as fast as I can as HE speaks to my heart. What a glorious experience that is to sense HIS Spirit on me, guiding my thoughts and words.

Through experiences like this, HE has shown me many times with great clarity what HIS will is for my life. I long for those experiences when HE speaks to me like that. Those times are truly life changing. John 10:27

MY sheep hear MY voice, and I know them, and they follow ME. (Do you?)

27) Listen to your heart.

In addition to listening to the Spirit, I also recommend listening to your heart. To understand my point here, consider the following passage: Psalms 37:4 - 5

<sup>4</sup> Delight yourself also in the LORD, and HER shall give you the desires of your heart. <sup>5</sup> Commit your way to the LORD, trust also in HIM, and HE shall bring it to pass. (NKJV) I love this passage, because it shows me that, when I am walking with the Lord, HE will actually let me do many really cool things that I actually love to do! When you are close to HIM, HE actually begins to shape your desires so that you desire the things that HE has already called you to do.

So then, HIS plan actually becomes a super - exciting adventure. I always have the most fun in life when I am doing God's will. And that is because HE shapes my personal "wanter" to want to do the things for which HE has actually created me.

8) Take a look at your circumstances.

God often clearly demonstrates HIS plan for our lives by lining up circumstances in obvious ways. And HE also shows us what HIS will is NOT for us to do in that same way. It is not HIS will for you to take the job that is not offered to you. If you are 5' 6" tall and weigh 125 lbs., it is not likely that God has created you to play professional football.

Over the years, I have discovered that God is pretty good at opening and closing doors. HE even did that for the Apostle Paul and his enterouge in Acts. Take a look at this passage: Acts 16:6 - 10

<sup>6</sup> Now when they had gone through Phrygia and the region of Galatia, they were forbidden by the Holy Spirit to preach the word in Asia.

<sup>7</sup> After they had come to Mysia, they tried to go into Bithynia, but the Spirit did not permit them.

<sup>8</sup> So passing by Mysia, they came down to Troas.

<sup>9</sup> And a vision appeared to Paul in the night. A man of Macedonia stood and pleaded with him, saying, "Come over to Macedonia and help us."

<sup>10</sup> Now after he had seen the vision, immediately we sought to go to Macedonia, concluding that the Lord had called us to preach the gospel to them.

So, even Paul had to face closed doors in his ministry. God often uses closed doors to show us clearly what HE does NOT want us to do. And HE also uses open doors at times to show us what HE DOES want us to do. Of course, this does not mean that every open door is definitely God’s plan, but it does help to give you some basic direction.

A Closing Thought:

The next time you begin to ponder God’s plan for your life, I would encourage you to mull over the above eight keys. Use these principles to help you to hone - in - on HIS plan. And when you seek HIS will earnestly, you will find it!

The wonderful benefit to be a New Testament Christian is that God has added a “want to” to the “have to” aspect of HIS commands. The Holy Spirit dwelling within us convicts, prompts, and inspires a desire to follow God wholeheartedly.

Given a little, then really do something – Given a little and do nothing!

You can't manage even a little - Then the little you have will be taken.

Matthew 13:12 - 13 => “For to him who has will more be given,” HE told them, “and he will have great plenty; but from him who has not, even the little he has will be taken away. That is why I use these illustrations, so people will hear and see but not understand.

Matthew 25:29 => For the man who uses well what he is given - shall be given more, and he shall have abundance. But from the man who is unfaithful, even what little responsibility he has shall be taken from him.

Mark 12:43 - 44 => HE called HIS disciples to HIM and remarked, “That poor widow has given more than all those rich men put together! For they gave a little of their extra fat, while she gave up her last penny.”

Luke 21:4 => For they have given a little of what they didn't need, but she, poor as she is, has given everything she has.”

17 - Common Dream Meanings You Should Never Ignore - 898,229 views Apr 25, 2020

Experts say that there are some common dream meanings you should never ignore. Do you ever dream about falling, have nightmares or recurring dreams? If so, you should start paying attention to your dream themes. There are different types of dreams, and it's thought that they often form intricate images out of emotional concepts. Therefore, dream analysis can promote better self - awareness. Studying dream symbols and the meaning of dreams can help us better understand what's troubling us in our waking lives. Hence the reason that interest in dream interpretation has been increasing more and more, over the years.

Todd White - Healing is for Today - 33,782 views - Jul 5, 2020

Todd White was a drug addict and atheist for 22 years. In 2004 he was radically and miraculously set free when a gun fired at him and he should have died but instead heard God speak to his heart, “I took that bullet for you, now are you ready to live for me?” Bonnie and I have been with Todd White many times – for four days training at a time.

Todd believes that redemption and righteousness are the foundational keys for living life as a new creation in Christ and has since traveled the entire world sharing the gospel and living the full reality that Jesus paid for on the cross! Todd’s foremost desire is to see the Holy Spirit flowing through believers everywhere they go – work, school, grocery stores, malls, gas stations... everywhere! Todd’s true joy is being able to reproduce a 24 / 7 kingdom lifestyle in every believer. His heart is to activate people in the simplicity of who they really are and confront the barriers that hold them back from being who God created them to be. No one is excluded!

Help is on the way your miracle is about to blow your mind - Inspirational video - 5,319 views - Apr 6, 2021

We don't always have people in our lives who can inspire us to follow our dreams. Fortunately, we can reflect on the wise words of others, and these ideas can serve as teachers that motivate us to chase after our goals and desires. You have to chase your dreams, no matter what. The impossible just takes a little longer. One stroke at a time, one step at a time, the impossible is easy to achieve.

ARE WE SAVED BY GRACE OR BY FAITH? - EPH 2:8 - 9 - ONE OF THE MOST MISUNDERSTOOD VERSES IN THE BIBLE - 2,271 views - Apr 24, 2021

In this video, I'm going to look at one of the most misused, misquoted, and misunderstood verses in the entire Bible - Ephesians 2:8 - 9 and 10. Satan is a liar and it's just clear how he is misusing Scriptures to deceive people. And those who are deceived are now going around deceiving other people, making them believe that baptism is works, repentance is works, and that "we are not saved by works but by grace and grace alone."

No, you are not saved by grace! No one is saved by grace! The Bible never says that we are saved by grace! If you believe that Ephesians 2:8 - 9 is saying that, then you have also been deceived.

A park in Tennessee got HIT with REVIVAL! | Documentary | Part One - 5,364 views - May 4, 2021

Things got WILD in Tennessee! Many people drove to where we were to be touched by Jesus and get their lives changed forever! We also got to meet a lot of our TSNL Family! This is truly a MOVEMENT from God! Enjoy Part One!

Some 85% of the people who receive the Holy Spirit (Holy Ghost) get weak or get weak in their balance or knees and fall to the floor or to the ground. People often shack as their demons leave them.

A Jezebel Spirit manifested in a woman!!! Holy Ghost kicked her out the window!!! - 153,802 views - April 4, 2021

Our Saturday service in Altamonte Springs, FL was packed full of deliverance! We had one woman manifest a Jezebel (demon) spirit after receiving prayer at the altar!

Watch as the whole team pushed that evil witch Jezebel (demon) out of this woman's soul and the Holy Spirit comes in and fills her up to overflow!!!

A God Fearing Woman Is Not To Be Played With | A Powerful and Inspirational Sermon - 42,684 views - Apr 16, 2021

All Christian women should strive to walk in God's will and allow HIM to use us for HIS perfect plans and purposes. Other than being described as kind hearted in Scripture, a Godly woman is a woman who is after God's own heart, strives to serve others selflessly and build up those around her. A Godly woman is a true daughter of God.
